Check these features...they make the new Winchester Super Speed Roller Skates the skating buy of the Toy Fair.

• Complete new styling • Extra-heavy steel • Extra-large "winged" toe clamps • Leather straps • Red Vinyl ankle pads lined with Vinylfoam • Electronically welded foot and heel plates, strong horizontal girders • 20 double ball bearing Winchester Wonder Safety Wheels • Free wheeling • Full oscillating trunks • Nickel-lume finish.

No. 40 LEADER
Full girder 3 piece construction and 20 ball bearing wheels make her go as good as she looks. Elastic-stop nuts on axle extension bolts.

No. 50 STANDARD
Red dust caps on wheels, plus red ankle pad, give extra color, extra appeal. Like the #40 and #60, they're shaped to the skater's foot with high metal backs built integral with heel plate.

No. 60 DELUXE SKATE
The only skate made with Winchester's new rubber and double ball bearing wheel – faster, quieter and longer lasting than any all-metal wheel made. Extra maneuverability, extra speed. Red Vinyl ankle pads lined with Vinylfoam.

A LITTLE GIRL'S DREAM IS A DOLL

A doll, somehow, is every little girl's talisman; a passport to happiness when she's lonely, a secret confidante when she's afraid, something to "take it out on" when she's mad . . . but most of all, a companion to "grow-up" with, learn with, and, in some cases even envy a little. Here's a collection of dolls real as life, dolls that will brighten the life of every "special" little girl

AMERICAN CHARACTER DOLLS

These American Character dolls represent the finest in quality. All are beautifully full figured and sculptured of flesh-like, resilient plastic. Have rooted, Saran hair that can be washed, combed and curled . . . sleeping eyes with lashes . . . turning heads . . . they walk, bend at waist and stand. Dolls "A" and "E" have jointed ankles . . . convert to ballerinas. Ballerina slippers and leotard included in model's case. Dolls "B", "C", "D" come with strapless bra and panties; nylon hose, high heel shoes.

(A) "SWEET SUE" in AMERICAN BEAUTY GOWN. Shimmering satin bodice has draped chiffon neckline with flowing scarf. Shirred chiffon skirt over whispering pink taffeta, stands out above hooped petticoat. Wears high heel shoes, pearl necklace and flower spray in hair

SMITH-CORONA
ELECTRIC PORTABLES
FOR EASIER TYPING

Now you can have all of the wonderful ease of typing that only an electric typewriter can give you—and yet also have the outstanding advantages of a portable! You'll know that you're in an exciting, new world of typing pleasure the instant your finger touches a key on this machine. Fingers literally fly over the keyboard—you don't lose time and energy in forceful pressure on every key. Letters, forms—or anything to be typed gets done at just a fraction of the time it usually takes. Convenient portability—you'll marvel at the ease of carrying this lightweight machine. Typing is letter-perfect—each character prints with the same, sharp uniform impression. Even a beginner can do a perfect job. Machines are available in a choice of several eye-appealing, 2-tone decorator colors. Complete with a luxurious, streamlined "Holiday" carrying case.

This new electric portable incorporates many other splendid features to make your typing easier, faster, and superior in appearance. Key Set Tabulator: The set key, clear key and tab key are conveniently located near each other—simplifies setting and clearing stops for typing figures, dates, closings, and to indent paragraphs. Page Gage: Takes all guesswork out of page end typing—it lets you know how much typing space remains as you reach the bottom of the sheet. Impression Control Dial: For carbon copies, you want harder striking impact of keys—at other times you want lighter impact—and this dial permits selecting exactly that degree of impact required. Automatic Repeat Actions: Just apply slightly stronger pressure to the hyphen-underline key or space bar to get automatic repeat action until key or space bar is released. Touch Selector: Dial lets you select exact touch you prefer—from very light to firm. 110–115v. FOR MINIATURE DOLLS

CONVERTIBLE HAIR DRYER and DRYER CHAIR

Here is the same authentic combination miniature model as in the sensational BRECK Beauty Salon set. Replica of the ULLMAN convertible Hair Dryer and the MODLCRAFT ARISTOCRAT Chair. The unit with so much sales appeal that it has been packaged on its own. This will enable you to capitalize on the tremendous volume the name BRECK Beauty Salon will generate.

Here is an item that every little girl who owns a doll will want to have ... and what little girl doesn't own a doll!

ULLMAN'S new concept in hair drying engineering has actually been built into this miniature model. A clear plastic wrap around window can be lowered and lifted just like the original counterpart that provides visibility for patrons while hair is drying. This is a one piece unit combination Dryer and Dryer Chair.

CORRECTION !

This advertisement promoting the April issue of TOYS & NOVELTIES included the following paragraph:

> "With the largest paid circulation in the field (ABC statement of December, 1957), TOYS & NOVELTIES provides you with the most economical way of insuring the success of the efforts you put forth at Fair time."

The ABC statement referred to should have been that of June, 1957.

To set the record straight, we quote as follows from the ABC statements of December 31, 1957:

PLAYTHINGS average total paid circulation 10,248

TOYS & NOVELTIES average total paid circulation 10,113

We sincerely regret the error that was made, and we are deeply sorry if we have unintentionally misled any of our advertisers or prospects. We equally regret the injustice we have done Playthings.

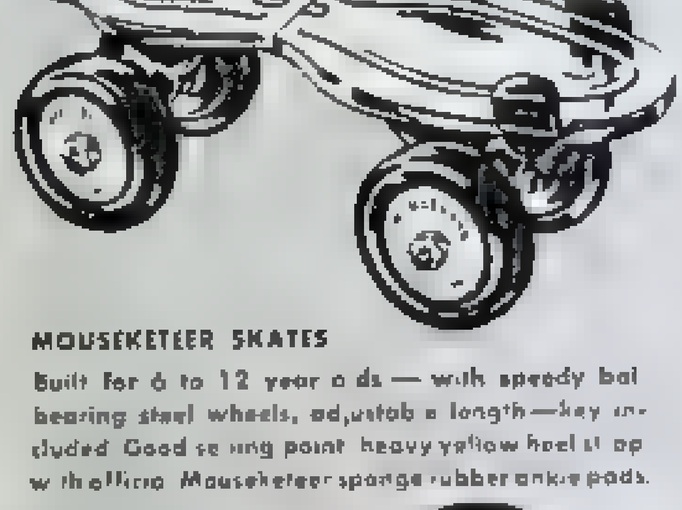
Mickey Mouse starts 'em skating...



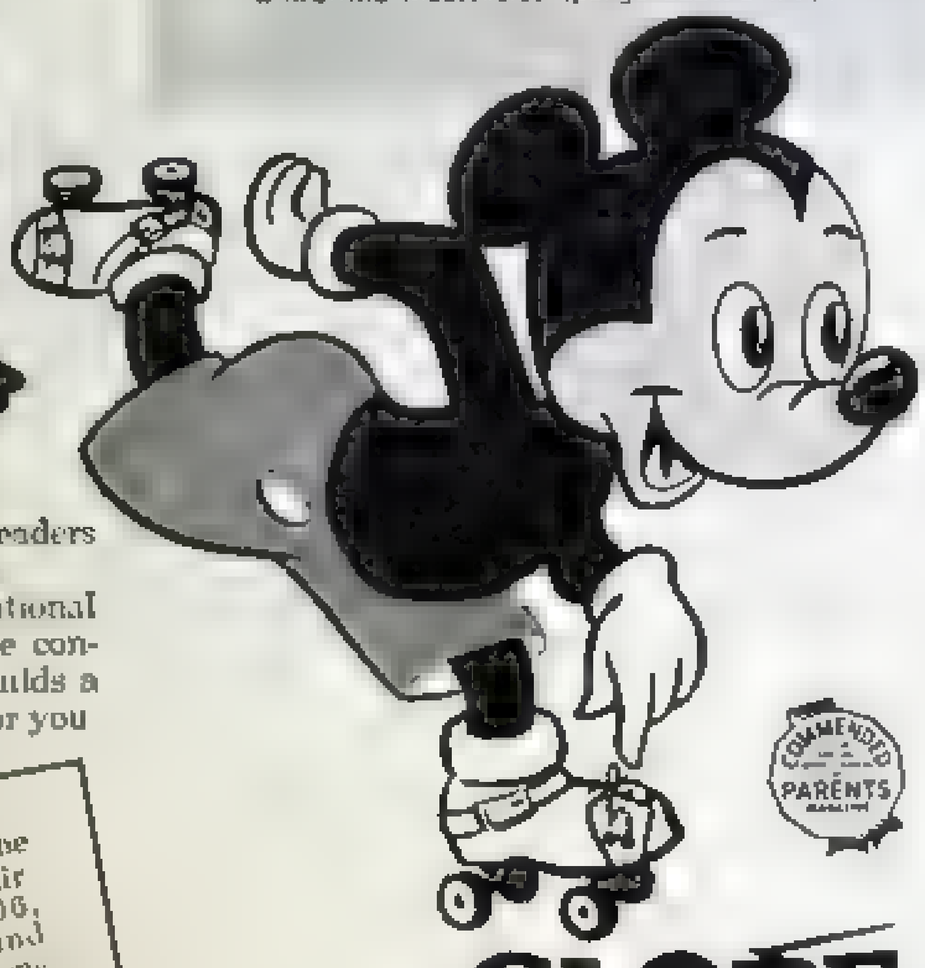
MICKEY MOUSE SKATES

Favored by the beginners (3 to 5 years) because they have Mickey's picture on the heel plate and toe strap. Good selling point: non-bearing wheels safer for beginners.

MOUSEKETEER SKATES

Built for 6 to 12 year olds — with speedy ball bearing steel wheels, adjustable length—key included. Good selling point: heavy yellow heel strap with Mickey Mouseketeer sponge rubber ankle pads.

...starts you rolling up big skate sales!



Presold! Several million youngsters who read Walt Disney Comics, Mouseketeer Comics and New Fun ones which make up the popular Dell Comic group.

Presold! 1,708,121 readers of Parents' Magazine.

Yes our powerful, national advertising covers the consumer market and builds a ready-made market for you.

Stop in and see us at the big American Toy Fair. We're in Room 1006, Hotel New Yorker and F A B 520. Take a long look at our whole line of Globe, Mickey Mouse and Mouseketeer skates.

Men Who Build the Future of American Railroads

"To maintain their role as the leading mass transportation agency, railroads must seek not merely to meet the competition but be the competition.

"And the Norfolk and Western is busy today preparing for a busy future. Although we now have more than 61,000 revenue freight cars—more per mile of road than any other railroad 250 miles or more in length—we are adding to our fleet because of our faith in an expanding market for the high quality coal mined along our line. We are also building a branch line including an 8,220-foot tunnel, to tap a new large coal area adjacent to our Clinch Valley District in Southwestern Virginia.

"With this District fully Dieselized, we will be able to move this coal tonnage efficiently and economically."

R. H. SMITH, President,
Norfolk and Western Railway Company

Further evidence of the N & W's progressive and competitive development are the 105 General Motors General Purpose locomotives in service on the road today.

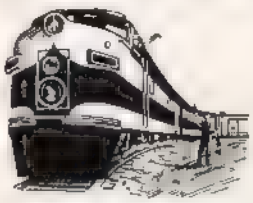
Paper and pulp in ever-growing abundance... products of the great, northern forests

Within reach of our more than 8,000 miles of railroad in 10 states and Canada lie some of the largest stands of timber on the continent. They provide a great share of our nation's pulp for newsprint and printing papers. This magazine may well have started from those forests via Great Northern. We specialize in moving logs, lumber, pulp and paper. And we've learned to do it at peak efficiency.

If your freight shipments require expert, specialized handling, please write W. E. Nicholson, General Freight Traffic Manager, Great Northern Railway, St. Paul 1, Minn.

11 NATIONAL SAFETY CITATIONS!

No wonder freight goes great on Great Northern



Great Northern has one of the top safety records among the nation's railroads. You can be sure your shipment will be handled with care . . . by railroad men who've proved they are careful.

LIONEL TRAINS AND ACCESSORIES WITH MAGNE-TRACTION

The 2000 h.p. diesel-hydraulic locomotive (page 12, February TRAINS) is the most powerful diesel yet delivered to BR under the modernization scheme and the first high-power design having hydraulic transmission. Mounted on two six-wheeled trucks, it is 65 feet long and has a maximum speed of 90 mph. Power is provided by two 1000 h.p. NBL-MAN diesel engines, and the transmission is the Voith-North British L306r type. Both engines and transmission are of German origin. The transmission incorporates three torque converters: one designed to be most efficient at starting and low speeds, the next for intermediate speeds, and the third for high speeds. One converter is filled as another is emptied and the change is made without interruption to the transmission of torque to the wheels.

This diesel and the four others like it that are under construction are for the Western Region and follow the British steam locomotive tradition of carrying names. All five are being named after warships; the first is being called Active. On a press and VIP run to Bristol, Active touched 93 mph, but had to make part of its return journey on only one engine after a fault developed. Even with only half power it was able to maintain quite a healthy speed with a nine-car train, but it was rather an unfortunate start to the Western Region's entry into mainline diesel operation.

SUPER SERVICE. When the 25,000 v. A.C. 50-cycle electrification of the Paris-Lille line is completed in spring 1959, French Railroads will introduce a new series of high-speed schedules. There will be four trains in each direction daily, timed to cover the 160 miles between the two cities in 130 minutes. Each train will probably be composed of five cars, all made of stainless steel on the Budd principle. Some of the accommodation will include reclining seats and there will be a dining service, a bar and a telephone service to enable passengers to make or receive calls during their journey.

The cars will be equipped with the latest and most powerful type of brakes.

BEYOND THE PACIFIC

BY WILLIAM K. VIEKMAN

ROAD TO MANDALAY: The meter-gauge jungle-bound Burma Railway has announced plans to dieselize its operations. As part of a huge renovation project, a preliminary order for 6 diesel-electric locomotives has been placed. Other orders call for 8 three-car diesel trains, a new diesel maintenance shed in the yards at Rangoon, and 75 new passenger cars (including new diners) which have added to the streamlining of Rangoon-Mandalay express trains. Japanese rolling stock manufacturers have handled most of these contracts under war reparations agreements.

All aboard for better service! N&W traffic men tour the road to learn more about their product

Norfolk and Western freight traffic representatives are salesmen of Precision Transportation. To help keep them up-to-date on this dynamic "product," to be of maximum service to shippers, the N&W sponsors educational tours for these men.

In small groups they visit key points along the line, observing the N&W in action. They see first-hand how your freight is handled en route, at terminals and interchange points.

N&W freight traffic representatives are located in 40 key cities of the U. S., as near to you as your telephone. Call on them for shipping advice and information, provided without obligation.

At the Port of Norfolk on famed Hampton Roads they watch ocean cargo moving smoothly and efficiently between trains and ships. Everywhere, veteran railroaders are on hand at every point to answer questions and to explain various facilities and operational procedures.

The tours result in joint benefits for N&W traffic men and customers. The tour members themselves return to their jobs with a clearer picture of their railroad, its facilities, equipment and services. And, being more fully informed, they can be of even greater service in providing dependable shipping advice and information.

Announcing a new kind of plywood—expressly engineered for boats

WELDWOOD ROYAL MARINE PLYWOOD

Today, the trend is to more speed, more power in boats. This makes their strength and seaworthiness more essential than ever for a boatowner's safety and for economical maintenance. To keep pace with the need for a more durable boatbuilding material, United States Plywood Corporation has engineered a new marine plywood, Weldwood Royal Marine Plywood.

Designed specifically for marine use, Weldwood Royal Marine is the most thoroughly engineered marine plywood available. It is the result of exhaustive research and testing. It is backed by the extensive technical know-how of the world's largest plywood organization. It is tailor-made to build longer life and less maintenance . . . new luxury, beauty, and enjoyment into your boat.

Already an important component of many boats now on the market—both finished and kit—Weldwood Royal Marine Plywood in your boat assures you of greater boating value, longer dependable service, and more boating pleasure than you've ever known. Here's why:

Produced specifically for use in quality boats, designed, engineered, and tested to meet the most exacting requirements for marine applications.

Finest woods, selected for their strength, impact resistance, beauty, and resistance to rot and fungus. Many woods commonly accepted for marine use have been proved unsatisfactory and rejected by Weldwood for its Royal Marine line.

High-quality Weldwood phenolic waterproof glue assures rot-proof, waterproof glue lines; backs up the Weldwood pledge: "Guaranteed not to delaminate, ever."

Sturdy cores with no core voids which can weaken panel, trap moisture, or cause "breathing" and blistering.

Paints or stains beautifully because superior face plies are chosen for their tight, smooth grain. Has high impact resistance.

Makes boat assembly or repairs easier, thanks to availability of extremely long panels that reduce the number of seams required. Panels have exceptional bending and tensile strength.

WELDWOOD ROYAL MARINE PLYWOOD QUALITY is illustrated in this cutaway diagram of Royal Marine Duraply. Marine Duraply, thanks to its tough, waterproof Crezon overlay, has extra-high resistance to abrasion and wear. It's ideal for hulls, decks, bulkheads, transoms and other heavy-duty areas.

A. Crezon overlay is smooth, tough, easy to work. Surface is permanently weatherproof and waterproof . . . highly abrasion-resistant as shown here on trial edge.

B. Philippine mahogany veneers on faces of panel—and under the tough overlay—assure absolute minimum grain raise and smooth surface.

C. Fir inner plies are tight—no core voids.

D. Bonded with a high-quality phenolic waterproof glue—guaranteed never to delaminate. Note: In ¾" construction as shown, fir and mahogany plies are of equal thickness.

WELDWOOD ROYAL MARINE PLYWOOD IS AVAILABLE IN 3- OR 5-PLY CONSTRUCTIONS OF:

Weldwood Royal Marine Duraply®—Abrasion-resistant Crezon overlay over Philippine mahogany faces needs no sanding, no undercoating, paints beautifully because grain can't show through. Withstands buffeting, won't blister, check or swell. 4' x 8', 9', and 10', ¼" to ¾" thick. To 20' long on order.

Weldwood Royal Marine Philippine Mahogany—Beautiful, fine-grained, easy to finish for natural wood appearance or smooth painting. 4' x 8' to 4' x 20'. Longer lengths scarfed up to 36'.

Weldwood Royal Marine Douglas Fir—Boatbuilder's favorite fir plywood. Tight cores, solid faces. 4' x 8' up to 4' x 16', ¼" to ¾" thick. Special constructions and lengths on order.

PLYWOOD
Royal Marine Weldwood represents a new development in the manufacture of plywood—a panel expressly engineered for marine use. Developed after years of exhaustive laboratory research and field experience, Royal Marine Weldwood combines special mechanical properties and exceptional finishing and durability characteristics.

LOOK FOR THIS LABEL on the boat or boat kit you buy. It's your assurance of the finest materials and greatest value for your boating dollar.

American Beauty Fine Quality Sewing Machines

Outstanding Workmanship and Materials . . . Precision-Designed for Years of Dependable Service

AMERICAN BEAUTY SEWING MACHINES . . . give you professional-looking results, even if you're never sewn before. Superior performance satisfies the expert, simple operation delights the beginner. American Beauty machines are engineered to handle delicate synthetics and heavy denims equally well —make all sewing fast, easy, and always perfect! Encourages you to sew more, to save money! Quality constructed, vibration-free motor for years of dependable service. Operates on 110-120 volts, AC-DC. Extra needles, bobbins and other parts can be purchased at easy sewing store. All include a 25-year guarantee and an instruction manual. NOT MAILABLE—SHIPPED FROM WISCONSIN—PAY SHIPPING ON DELIVERY.

WHAT DOES A ZIG-ZAG SEWING MACHINE DO? A zig-zag sewing machine does everything a straight stitch machine does plus all the normally troublesome details of finishing—without attachments. Because its needle can move from side to side as well as up and down, it sews on buttons, makes buttonholes, monograms, embroiders, appliques, blindstitches hems, overcasts seams, darns, mends—and of course, sews straight, forward and reverse. You can master machine-feel of a job from first seam to last button with a flick of the finger and without a single attachment to hamper you or slow you down. American Beauty Zig-Zag sewing machines are available in portable models [A] to [C] and in all console or desk models on this page.

With energy, creative ability, and 100% participation in the child's world on a child's level. The Little Pink Doll House doubled its first year's sales volume and anticipates beating that figure in 1957.

LITTLE WOMEN display is arranged by Mrs. Kennedy. "Mother," in form of a fifteen-inch doll, is being placed in the center of the arrangement.

Creation of a child's world fosters

• "I ENTER into the child's world in my dealings with children", says Mrs. Ike Kennedy, owner and manager of the Little Pink Doll House in Ruidoso, N.M., "and the result is a business that far exceeds anything I ever expected."

The Little Pink Doll House is a tiny building in the front yard of the Kennedy home, located on an arterial road leading into Cedar Creek Canyon. Mountains and pines surround it and the pink-tinted exterior is a focal point of attention for children and their mothers. This is one of the chief success factors for Mrs. Kennedy. Establishing the doll house makes a child feel that it is a place exclusively for her. Very often a child enters the doll house and then returns with five or six of her little playmates for them to see it also.

The proof of the value of this unique setup, reports Mrs. Kennedy, is that a large part of the volume each year is repeat business.

If there is such a thing as the right "temperament" for selling dolls and doll accessories Mrs. Ike Kennedy has it. She is a Sunday School teacher and her pupils are kindergarten age. With a major in psychology this dealer applies the principles learned in dealing with children. Her comment is: "I do not talk down to a child. Patience, sincerity, the love of children and understanding them makes a difference. And it means the difference between a mediocre volume and one that is increasing each year."

This doll specialty store operator went into doll merchandising as a hobby in 1955. The Little Pink Doll House, with its 9 by 12-foot sales area, quickly became a business. Sales in 1956 doubled those of the year before and the outlook for 1957 indicates it will exceed 1956 by a wide margin.

Shop fills community need

In opening the doll house Mrs. Kennedy had the firm belief that the resort town of Ruidoso did not offer any items to interest children. Her sales indicate that she is filling this need in the community.

A complete line of miniature dolls is stocked and range from $2 to $10 in price. Baby dolls range from $6.50 to $14.95; little girls from $8.75 to $14.95; high heel dolls from $12.95 to $25.95. Custom-made doll clothes and doll luggage further swell the total volume. The manager boasts that everything from panty girdles to full-fashioned nylon hose can be found in the doll house.

In setting up her operations Mrs. Kennedy first contacted Cullom & Boren in Dallas. The executives in the doll department were very cooperative. From the very beginning The Little Pink Doll House has been conducted on a full-price basis. The merchandise principles used involve answering a definite need for top quality dolls, accessories, and custom made clothes; providing registration for a $14.95 doll by any child each time a purchase of a $1.00 or more is made. This promotion is held in the spring and the child must be accompanied by a parent or other adult. The child can register as often as a purchase is made. The doll is given away at the end of the season and a tremendous response is received.

The mail order volume in 1956 were twice those of the previous year. An example is an $85 order over the telephone from Midland, Texas. A visitor to Ruidoso saw The Little Pink Doll House and told her friend about it when she returned home This resulted in an immediate order for a doll and accessories.

This tiny shop covers a trading area of all of Texas and the southeastern part of New Mexico.

Mrs. Kennedy anticipates her customer's needs by telephone contact with her suppliers. The New Mexico Company of Albuquerque is her main TROUSSEAU is being assembled for shipment to client. The order will be shipped in the trunk. Each mail order is packed carefully so clothes will not need pressing.

growth of doll business

source of supply. Telegrams and excellent working relationships with representatives are invaluable in getting merchandise to meet the trend and the demand

The point of no returns

This successful merchandiser states it is essential for a dealer to be thoroughly sold on the lines represented. In her case Mrs. Kennedy keeps posted and qualified on the features of every item in stock. She is especially concerned about the ability of a product to stand up. It is a matter of pride with this owner that The Little Pink Doll House has yet to get a doll back that did not stand up. An illustration of the sturdiness of the items carried is that a doll's wig has never been returned, due to lack of workmanship and lasting ability.

The care of dolls is stressed in this shop. Mrs. Kennedy tells a customer: "This is a letter from the manufacturer to you on the care of the doll you are interested in." She tells the child if she is old enough to read the letter, to do so. If not, then have her mother read it to her. Poster cards and samples of dolls are maintained each season in a local candy kitchen that does a large mail order business and in a local beauty salon. This proves good advertising for the firm.

Seasonal advertising in the Ruidoso News is effective and civic pride on the part of Ruidoso business firms and citizens in The Little Pink Doll House is invaluable publicity, says Mrs. Kennedy.

Attention to details is all-important in the rising success of the doll house. Each order sent out is packed so the doll's clothes will not have to be pressed. It is Mrs. Kennedy's experience that the average person is not equipped to do this. Pink tissue is used, items are packed according to colors so they will blend and appear their most attractive when the package is opened.

Mrs. Kennedy's creative ability finds expression in making custom clothes for dolls. This packs a two-way punch for it gives individuality to her shop and this creates word-of-mouth advertising and very often lead to multiple-unit sales. A customer often buys a doll and orders clothes in the form of a complete wardrobe.

LITTLE PINK DOLL HOUSE'S owner, Mrs. Ike Kennedy steps outside to greet a little customer and her mother. Total area of the shop is 9x12 feet.

IT'S EASY for a customer to enter a child's name in Vickers' birthday drawing. Birthday "toy deposit" boxes are mounted on handy ledge, with separate box for each month of the year. Prize is any desired toy in the store.

Birthday box registration increases doll

The Toy Chest "giveaway" has both profits and customers really jumping.

"DOLL sales have really jumped since we started our birthday registration," says Mrs. J. J. Vickers, owner and manager of Vickers' Toy Chest at 103 Central, N. M. in Albuquerque, N. Mex. In addition to this downtown store a Vickers' Toy Chest was opened in East Heights in the fall of 1956

Mrs. Vickers points out the birthday registration program was instituted at the opening of the East Heights store to originally run only through Christmas. But the promotion created so much interest that it is now a permanent feature in both stores.

The birthday box registration consists of a box, one set up each month. Vickers' Toy Chest conducts a drawing each week from the current month's birthday box on the stores' television program, presented on KOB-TV in Albuquerque.

Mrs. Vickers states: "The child whose name is drawn wins the very toy he would most like to have. The winner picks his toy. Children seem delighted with the fact the prize is any toy they want."

Each month, as a follow-up, the stores send a birthday card to the children who have registered offering a 10 per cent discount on the toy they had registered for if they did not win it in the drawing. This privilege of stating what toy is desired enables the TV announcer to give the name of the winner and the toy of the child's choice during the program.

TOY CHEST stores, stressing quality, carry a wide variety of nationally-known dolls. Here, Mrs. J. J. Vickers, owner, arranges a doll display.

Experience at Vickers' Toy Chest is that the winner, the viewers, and the parents are satisfied in that a child's heart desire was fulfilled.

This successful merchandiser finds that an ever-increasing clientele is associating the two stores with birthdays for children. The birthday cards

TWO STORES are operated by Mrs. J. J. Vickers, one in downtown Albuquerque and the other in the East Heights suburban section.

Inexpensive promotion builds year 'round sales remind parents of the gift their child wants most for his birthday—and where to get it. Those having birthdays who have not registered at one of the stores can be counted on to come in to register.

Builds year 'round sales

This floor traffic on the part of the youngsters accounts for more and more parents coming to Vickers' Toy Chest for birthday gifts and toys which are difficult to find except during the Christmas season. Manager Vickers says: "We believe the birthday drawing has had a big part in keeping up business this spring. Our business downtown is up 25 per cent over a year ago. And our East Heights store (located at 423 San Mateo, N. E.) is doing 20 per cent more than the downtown store."

This merchant notes that doll sales have increased very profitably since the birthday registration was started in 1956. Since the winners are invited to appear on the TV program and show their toys, there is increased interest in those toys which are won.

The promotion on the screen points attention to the various doll lines offered at Vickers' Toy Chest. Doll accessories, clothes, and furniture also receive a definite boost in volume. The two stores stock a full line of dolls and accessories as well as other toys throughout the year. Promotion-minded Mrs. Vickers stresses the fact that customers will seek out the dealer who has a complete selection and a wide range in price and type to choose from. Nevertheless, emphasis is placed on quality at Vickers'.

Quality value outlives price

At Vickers' Toy Chest records show that people will remember how well a toy held up long after the price of the item is forgotten. Mrs. Vickers proudly states: "Our doll sales have grown from a comparatively small percentage of our business to more than 40 per cent of total sales today."

The novel and the psychology-packed promotion always pays off for Vickers'. An example of this, in addition to the birthday registration, is the "Magic Lantern" promotion. Store-created, it involves a magic chest from Vickers' which never runs out of new and exciting toys. Mrs. Vickers figures that as long as a child's dream world centers around items stocked in her store and made accessible through one of her unique promotions, sales are due to increase each year. A check of the records indicate this dealer is on the right track.

YOURS FOR '58 THE 29' SEA SKIPPER

NOTHING NEWER IN THE BOATING WORLD!

In all the boating world there never was a cruiser safer, more dependable or more excellent than the Sea Skipper—brand new for '58.

Expert designing and craftsmanship are yours throughout. Lapstrake mahogany planking; double-planked bottom; teak decks and trim; all chrome hardware; bow lights; running lights; compass and spotlights; hydraulic controls; fuel and water tanks of Monel; salt-water fastenings—all are features of the magnificently new Sea Skipper.

The interior has 6' 2" headroom throughout; the settee converts for sleeping two; there's a complete galley; a dinette that converts into a double berth; head with basin, hanging closet, mirror and sliding windows, opening windshield; forward hatch; foam rubber mattresses and cushions; stowage space to the mate's delight. The large cockpit has plenty of room for all and Monel fish boxes for the catch.

Like all other Commodore Boats, she's available in seven to-suit-you color choices, with power options up to 450 hp for speeds to 36 mph.

Step aboard and take over the helm of the cruiser that will triumphantly be the leader for '58.

MOLDED FIBER GLASS

Molded Fiber Glass Boat Company of Union City, Pennsylvania, has expanded its line of "MFG" Boats for 1958 to two sizes (12½' and 15') and five models. All models feature the Molded Fiber Glass hull, mass-produced in matched metal dies, with molded-in lapstrake design.

New to the MFG line is the mahogany-trimmed 12½' MFG Corry, featuring a reverse lap between keel and chine for speed and stability.

It is presently available in two models. The Corry Utility model is an open fishing boat with three full-width mahogany seats; the Suburban features a 44" forward deck and two full-width seats.

Sporting new features are the three MFG 15' models, Erie, Cambridge and Union. Foremost is a new hull resin, recently developed in the Molded Fiber Glass Research Laboratory, which give MFG hulls even greater strength and impact resistance.

Other new features of the 15' models include strong, attractive, rustproof metal tubing seat back supports for Erie and Cambridge models; a redesigned Cambridge center deck, a redesigned Erie aft deck; strong inner plywood transom and redesigned motor cut-out; and easy-to-clean interior floorboard and hull finish for all models.

PERMA-DOCK FOR EASY SECURITY

Now a dock can be put up or taken down in half the time because of Perma-Dock metal brackets manufactured by the Marine Specialties Division of Central Machine Works Co., 1203 Central Ave., Minneapolis 13, Minnesota.

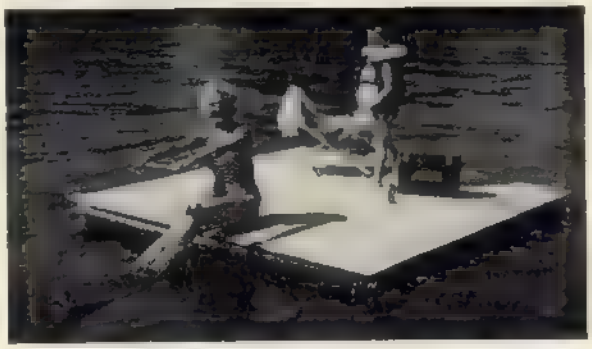
With Perma-Dock mooring bars, it's easy to step in or out of a boat. Perma-Dock float brackets securely fasten 55-gallon drums to landing or swimming floats of any size. And with the Perma-Dock motor cart-lift, one person can lift a big motor. A self-locking winch holds the motor safely regardless of the motor's position.

BOON TO NAVIGATION STUDENTS

One of the finest aids to students of celestial navigation has been devised by Robert F. Carey of East Falmouth, Mass. Called the Star-Da-Cator, it was developed as an aid in teaching United States Power Squadrons courses.

Essentially, Star-Da-Cator is a table model planetarium 20" high. In three-dimensional clarity, it illustrates the operational principle of every type of celestial problem. It shows the position of every celestial body used in navigation, at any time of day or night, for any year, as viewed from any place on earth. All the interrelationships of the earth and celestial bodies in their relative movements are shown in a manner which the student can clearly visualize. Star-Da-Cator, in fact, can illustrate any celestial situation that can be devised.

FLOATING LAUNCHING SITE FOR SKIERS



The Aluma-Raft, an 8-foot aluminum square is offered by Aluminum Tubing Company of Jacksonville, Florida, as a multi-purposed floating island. Ideal, says the firm, as a water-ski take-off platform, for sun-bathing, to mark off a swimming area, etc. It is supported by five 8-inch aluminum tubes.

HOUSEBOATS — 1958

FALLS CITY MARINETTE

The Marine Division of the Falls City Flying Service of Louisville, Kentucky, introduces an improved version of the 28-foot all-aluminum Marinette.

The inboard version powered by a 65 hp Vee-Drive Universal attains speeds up to 17 mph. The outboard model will do 13 mph with a 35 hp engine.

The Marinette's hull is constructed of ⅛" aluminum plate riveted for stress-free strength and with all seams heli-welded for complete and positive sealing. Both hull and cabin are "alodized" and painted for maximum protection against salt water.

Effective "weather conditioning" is provided by a blanket of glass fiber insulation. There are sleeping accommodations for four, a modern galley, a complete head and screened-in jalousie windows and door. The cabin has 6' 3" headroom and adequate closet and storage space. Overhead is the sundeck. Its light weight and strength permits trailer mobility.

WEERES PONTOON

The Weeres Pontoon Boat Fleet will again be available in four sizes in 1958, with important improvements, at only a slight increase in cost. Pontoons on all boat sizes will be one foot longer from the rear of the deck to accommodate the larger and heavier motors that appear to have increasing popularity. Increased speed, with less strain on the motor, makes the longer pontoon more practical. Increased flotation and stability obtained from this additional length greatly increase the support for loads carried far aft. Slip-proof Pontoon Points will prevent people from slipping off the points while boarding when boat is beached.

◀ Built on a ski-type 35' steel hull, this houseboat sleeps four to eight. Built by the Pleasant Waters Co. of Milwaukee, Wisconsin

▶ Falls City Flying Service makes this all-aluminum 28-footer, the Marinette. She sleeps four, has a modern galley.

◀ River Queen Boat Works of Gary, Indiana, makes this 32-foot houseboat. She will take either inboard or outboard motors, has 11-foot beam and 168 square feet of cabin area for living comfort.

▶ Yachtland is made by Stanley Mobile Homes, Dixon, Illinois. Craft is 29' over all, sleeps four. Hull is made from a high-tensile steel Stained and plastic coated decking, as well as stained and pastic coated 8" redwood splashboards are available in packages for 1958.

These outboard-propelled pontoon craft are built by Weeres Pontoon Boat Company, St. Cloud, Minnesota.

SKIPPER AMPHIBIAN

The 1958 model of the Skipper 26' Amphibious mobile home offers the comforts of mobile living on land or water.

A mobile home, a yacht or a lakeside cabin, its mobility brings every lake within easy reach. The detachable wheels and trailer mount make it easy to launch on any gradual incline. Wheels may be left in position for short cruises or easily removed for extended trips.

The Skipper 26' features complete cooking, dining and sleeping facilities. Galley equipment includes a butane range, icebox, drainboard sink and abundant storage space for food and linens. Water storage tanks are available for cooking and drinking.

For more information address Skipper Manufacturing Company, P. O. Box 4341, Fort Worth, Texas.

◀ This 22-foot houseboat made by the Trail-It Coach Mfg. Co., Des Moines, Iowa, has an 8' beam. all-steel hull, aluminum exterior cabin siding and mahogany interior cabin walls It also provides wheel-retraction which makes it an amphibious unit.

The Cat's Whiskers is a 40-foot catamaran houseboat built by the Navicat Corp.

NAVICAT CORP.

For those who seek a houseboat type of craft which can be built either professionally or by the amateur, the Navicat Corp., a subsidiary of Cross, Austin & Ireland Lumber Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., now manufactures a line of pontoons to serve as the basic hull on which a superstructure may be erected. They are available in 18, 27 and 36' lengths. In addition to their use as basic hulls, they can be used as well for floats of various descriptions.

These pontoons are solid sandwich laminations of Styrofoam, a closed cell plastic developed by Dow Chemical Co., and marine plywood (U. S. Plywood Corp.) bonded together with a special resorcinal adhesive developed by the Borden Company's Chemical Division. They are sheathed with copper to prevent fouling and marine growth. Weight is approximately 8 pounds per cubic foot.

Completed boats are also available, based on these pontoons, used in pairs like a catamaran. There is a 40' Cat's Whiskers houseboat with complete accommodations for comfortable living afloat, powered with two 125 hp Palmers; and a 20' outboard cruiser, the Cat's Meow, well adapted to construction by the amateur boatbuilder

TERRA-MARINA

Just announced by the Terra-Marina Manufacturing Company, Inc., Houston, Texas is a new amphibious Sportscraft. Designed and engineered as a year-round craft, this amphibious houseboat has such features as 145 square feet of outside deck space, including a forward, aft, and sun deck. It has a 21' amphibious hull with built-in trailer, and detachable trailer hitch, to adapt it to land as well as water travel. The craft has a fiberglass insulated aluminum cabin, storage space in the hull, tile floor, ship's wheel, ship's ladder, and complete land and marine running lights. There is an aft deck compartment for fresh water tank, batteries, and gas tank.

The Sportscraft has complete facilities including dinette, galley with combination stove and ice box, sink, fresh water galley pump, toilet, and sleeping accommodations for four or more.

BOAT DISTRIBUTION

Adding four new models for 1958 to their line of outboard boats, Boat Distribution, Inc., of Clinton, North Carolina, now has a total of 35 different type boats from an 8' junior skipper's sport runabout to a houseboat.

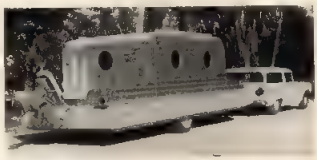
Grandma III, an amphibious houseboat, is the 1958 version of Grandma II, remembered as the Mexico-to-New York cruising houseboat of 1953. Grandma III, produced for Boat Distribution, Inc., is primarily a watercraft. It has complete accommodations for comfortable living aboard for four. Its many features include topside sun deck, fore and aft decks for fishing and ease in handling; dual wiring for dockside or cruising; dual water system for hook-up to dockside line or on board tank supply. Ample closet and cupboard space; inner spring mattresses; picture window; built-in dinette; drapes; forward mechanical steering; and approved running lights.

New boats announced include a 12' cartop skiff of plywood construction, weighing 90 pounds and capable of high speeds with up to 10 hp motor; a beamy 16' sport runabout of 5-ply mahogany plywood, mahogany and oak frame.

Blue Fin Sport Fisherman is a new 16' all-fiberglass deluxe sport fisherman, equipped with all accessories including full swivel fishing chairs and rod-holders.

Plywood hulls, in 16 and 18' lengths, are now available as completely equipped sport fishermen at relatively low cost.

Boat Distribution's Econo Line, new for 1958, includes three plywood 14' runabouts for use with up to 22 hp motors.



➤This Terra-Marina 21-foot houseboat is designed for land or water travel. She offers 145 square feet of outside deck space.

RED WING CASA CRUISER

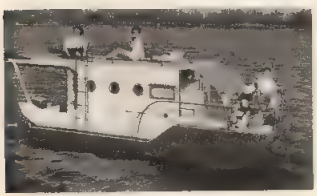
Red Wing Marine Corporation, Red Wing, Minnesota, enters the boatbuilding field with a new 40' houseboat called the Casa Cruiser. She is powered with twin Red Wing Meteor 100 hp engines.

➤Red Wing's 40' houseboat is powered by two Red Wing Meteor 100-hp engines. Called Casa Cruiser, she provides ample facilities to accommodate 7 persons

The Casa Cruiser provides ample facilities to accommodate seven overnight guests in comfort. Refinements include decorator fabric draperies, soft gold-tone carpeting, picture-view windows, fabric-covered walls, indirect lighting, full-sized inlaid tile shower, lavatory and toilet, a galley as convenient as a kitchen ashore, spacious dining room facilities, ample stowage space, and a big sun deck.

Typical of the spaciousness of this home afloat is the living area, designed for gracious entertaining. There are electric outlets everywhere for such added conveniences as electric razor, radios, TV, kitchen mixers, etc. The stateroom has a permanent full-size double-berth with foam rubber mattress and a swing-down bunk folds away in seconds. The dining area offers plenty of room to seat six comfortably, and the galley is designed for modern streamlined efficiency.

Hull of the Casa Cruiser, designed by A. M. Deering, is welded 10-gauge steel. Gasoline capacity of 208 gallons provides a wide cruising radius.



➤Grandma III, handled by Boat Distribution, is a 25' x 8' steel-hulled houseboat with an aluminum and mahogany cabin. She has comfortable living accommodations for 4.

MARK 58—45 h.p. Super Thunderbolt—4 cylinders in line

Never before such performance from a four! Only in Mercury can you find four-cylinder design improved and proved over the last ten years. The Mark 58 gives you the greatest fuel economy yet in high-horsepower outboards.

SEE A MERCURY FIRST...

MARK 28—22 h.p. Super Hurricane Twin

Newest slant in twins!—22 horsepower in a package no bigger than a ten! Power to pull two water skiers from deep water starts, yet perfect for trolling. Automatic transmission provides steering handle control of forward, neutral, reverse, and throttle. New single-lever remote control available

TOMORROW'S OUTBOARD FEATURES TODAY!

Hydraulic Dyna-Shock Absorbers

A Mercury first, on Mark 78 and Mark 58. Not a gimmick, it's a real safety feature. When engine strikes an object, two hydraulic shock absorbers absorb the energy of impact then bring the violent tilting of engine to a gentle stop. Automatic safety-tilt switch cuts off ignition when engine is tilted out of water, restarts engine when it returns to water without losing steerage

' Photographed at Florida's Silver Springs. '

MARK 78 – 70 h.p. Super Marathon
6 cylinders in line

World's most powerful outboard, this compact engine gives you electric starting, forward, stop, reverse, throttle and choke in a single lever control. Thrust power that is fact, not fable . . . unmatched load-carrying capacity. Everyone knows a six is smoother than a four. With 40 percent more horsepower, 30 percent less weight and half the space requirements, how can you lose? And what could be sweeter than a six?

and see the most that's new for '58

NEW POWER
FULL-SIZE MODELS

"Get the Facts" Compare Mercury with the other outboards in a special "showdown" demonstration at your Mercury dealer's now! Compare feature for feature, horsepower for horsepower, and price for price.

This Is Going To Be A Mercury Year! As usual, you get the most of the newest in Mercury outboards! The most horsepower, the newest engineering and safety features, the most new models —new electric starting models, new long-shaft models. See the line that's really new—the one that delivers proved dependability with a punch—now at new prices which mean bigger-than-ever values.

In any model, where can you match Mercury for horsepower per cubic inch, horsepower per pound, horsepower per dollar or miles per gallon of fuel? In the final analysis you can't match Mercury.

Mast Mounted Running Light

A Mercury first. Optional on fours and sixes. Lights when raised, turns off when lowered. Meets Coast Guard specs.

New Carburetors With Self-Contained, Built-In Jets

On Mark 78, Mark 58, Mark 28. No adjustments necessary except for idle, as on your car. Gone forever are the "television knobs," exposed or hidden.

NEW! 50% higher output generators; bigger, deeper throated clamp brackets, automatic transmissions, Econo-Miser ignition linkage for even more fuel economy

Full Jeweled Power

Antifriction ball and roller bearing construction. In Every Mercury!

POPULAR "16" SUPER. Real runabout features at little more than a "rowboat" price! Raised foredeck, wide beam, flaring sides and high freeboard offer styling, safety and performance only Owens can deliver for only $595.

Delivered U.S.A., through Owens dealers only. Outboard motors, state and local taxes, extra.*

DEALERS: Your territory may be open for this valuable Speedship franchise. Why not write or phone at once?

in SMALL BOAT HISTORY!

FREE...NOT F. O. B.!

...only from OWENS!

In Takoma or Tampa, Owens' price is a delivered price—thanks to another revolutionary "first" from the company that has so often pioneered new ways to bring you more boat for less money!

There's no razzle-dazzle, no "packing", no variations from city to city in Speedship prices. You know what you're getting is a standard, complete boat and you know what you're paying is a standard, advertised price. Add it up—and you know what you've bought is the BIGGEST VALUE in the SMALL BOAT field!

The way Owens sees it—there's no reason why a man buying a smaller boat shouldn't expect and get real BIG-boat value for his dollar. That's why, although Owens offers many sizes and many types of boat, Owens makes only one standard of quality! Built as they are with the same craftsmanship that has long distinguished Owens Flagships, these "14", "16" and "19" Speedships are "small boats" in hull-length only. In materials, in design, in features, they have everything Owens lavishes on its famous big boats. Is it any wonder they represent the biggest dollar-value in small boats today?

Shop and compare before you invest . . . we're confident that, the more you look at the others, the more you'll see in an Owens!

How Mal jumped doll sales 50%

While in direct competition with discounters, and without increasing his advertising budget, this retailer realized his potential with open displays.

FIVE years ago Mal's Toy & Baby Shoppe, Pawtucket, R. I., set out to build a bigger doll business. The effort paid off so well that two years later it enlarged the department, added new merchandise lines, and widened the price range

Backed by a substantial advertising and promotional budget, dolls has developed into the large volume class, and the store is known for miles around for its large stock of nationally advertised brands of dolls.

While Mr. and Mrs. Abraham M. Mal had promoted and advertised dolls aggressively, they had scarcely touched the potential to be derived from open department displays. Boxed dolls had been piled on the shelves and, while customers generally knew these boxes contained dolls, there was none of the impact of large open display.

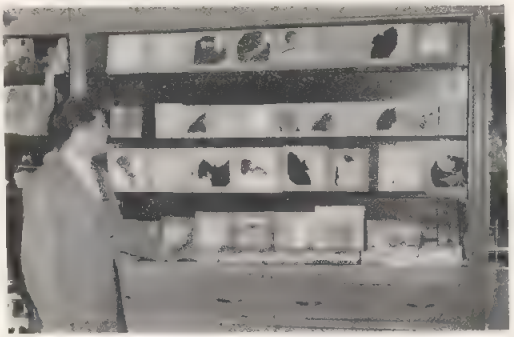
This problem was solved early in 1957 when Mal removed the dolls from the boxes, stood them on the shelves, and made 75 linear feet of solid wall display

The result? Doll sales increased 50%, without benefit of any extra advertising, and despite local discount competition. Doll sales for 1957 were in the $20,000-$25,000 bracket.

Displays are in glass-enclosed cases, divided into five separate categories—8-inch, 10½-inch, drink and wet, promotional dolls ranging in price from $2.28 to $9.78, and better dolls priced from $10 to $30. Largest shelf space is given to the first two categories.

"These sectionalized displays," says Mal, "have accomplished several results. They have brought the merchandise out to the people, providing open displays that are visible from all parts of the 6000 square feet of selling space in the store. They have made people realize the extensiveness of our doll stock, and they have helped us to do a much better selling job.

"In actual selling we first find out what type of doll the customer wants. From then on we concentrate our selling on that category. This concentration affects both the salesperson and the customer; the salesperson can make effective comparisons and prove quality; the customer is not distracted by other types or price levels.



OWNER Abraham M. Mal of Mal's Toy & Baby Shoppe, Pawtucket, R.I., checks clothes sets on display in section devoted to this kind of merchandise.

Good dolls need good selling

"Our experience during the past two or three years, and particularly during the past year, is that people want the better quality and higher priced dolls. But it requires a good selling job to sell better grade."

All dolls are displayed behind glass to prevent damage and soilage due to unsupervised handling by customers and children. Selling is done by trained personnel.

Dolls now are completely departmentized with their own cash register, their own buyer and manager, and their own sales staff. Henceforth Mrs. Mal will devote her entire time to buying dolls and managing this department. Specially trained salespersons will be assigned permanently to this department.

"We are departmentizing dolls completely," says Mal, "so that we will be in a position to develop this department to its full potential. We like the doll business; it is a well accepted and large volume business. We believe we can best build this to larger volume by making it a completely separate department."

Mal's features nationally advertised brands. Brand names are listed in every newspaper ad under the heading "We carry all the nationally advertised brands."

Dolls are advertised throughout the year with weekly ads, and twice-a-week ads from September to January. Dolls are given top billing in each newspaper ad.

Copy ranges from one quarter to two-thirds page ads in the Providence, Pawtucket and Attleboro newspapers, which give complete coverage of the DOLL DISPLAY, a 10-foot section devoted to teenage and large size dolls, is easily seen because of the addition of a black background. Mrs. Mal, who serves as manager and buyer of the doll department, straightens out stock.

TWELVE-FOOT SECTION OF MINIATURE DOLLS AND ACCESSORIES GETS ONCEOVER FROM OWNER. ITEMS ARE STOCKED IN DEPTH entire area served by this store.

In addition to newspaper advertising, dolls are featured in practically all of the store's numerous radio spots over two stations during the Christmas holiday season. Last year they were advertised also in three television commercials.

An unusually effective television series on dolls was staged for the six-weeks period before Christmas. The program was called Sunday Birthday Party, staged every Sunday at noon for half an hour. Master of ceremonies was a well known dancing teacher who put on a live act showing children dressed as dolls; the scene then switched at once to the showing of dolls dressed in that same way. For instance, she showed children dressed as brides, talked about them, then the scene switched to showing doll brides from Mal's.

This television program went over well. Within the first half hour of the first show, three persons telephoned Mal's store saying they had seen the program and asking for more information about the merchandise or the location of the store.

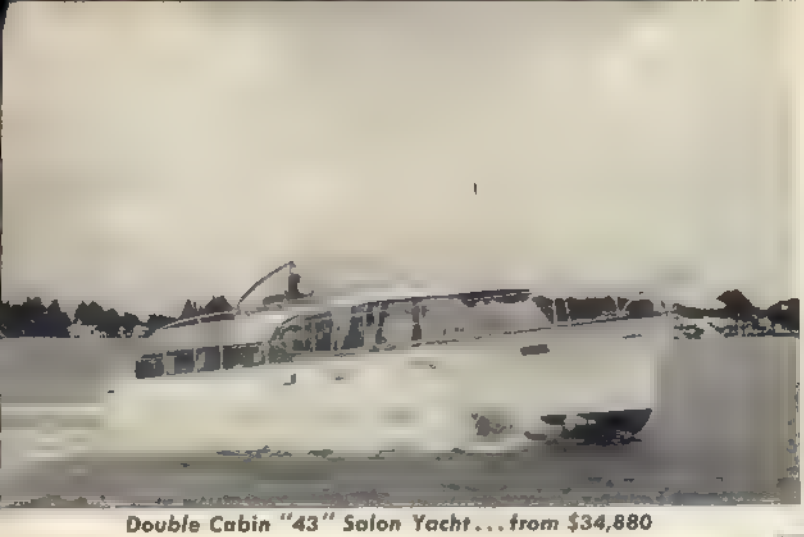
Fun Fleet for

RICHARDSON

▶ From the majestic Richardson "43" Motor Yacht, Flagship of the Fun Fleet for '58, to the husky "27" Utility, every Richardson Cruiser is designed and built for your seagoing pleasure in comfort and security. This famous "43" Motor Yacht and the new Double Cabin "43" Salon Yacht bring a new concept of cruising value to pleasure boating. Their new Salon Deckhouses, with lounging and dining area and galley all on one level, plus new interior decor and furnishings, make these fine yachts the fashion leaders for cruising



Double Cabin "43" Salon Yacht . . . from $34,880

The new Richardson "40" Cruisers are available in three types, the Sedan which sleeps eight, the Express and the Custom Sport Cruiser, both of which sleep six. All "40" Cruisers have wide side decks protected by sturdy handrails. The Sedan has a large picture windowed deckhouse with a davenport which converts to a comfortable double bed. The trunk cabins of all "40" models sleep six and have complete cruising facilities. A stall shower is available as optional equipment. The "40" Custom Sport Cruiser has a fly bridge with dual controls, pilot seat on fly bridge, teak decks, high signal mast and a bow rail connected to the handrails. Cockpit has step down and low free board for ease in boating game fish. Hydraulic clutch controls and reduction drives with twin power– gasoline or Diesel— are standard equipment. Power selections range from 155 to 225 HP each.

"40" Sedan Cruiser . . . from $25,275

"35" Sedan Cruiser from $18,155

The "35" Sedan and Express Cruisers for 1958 bring many big yacht features to craft of modest size. The Sedan sleeps six and the Express four. Both have wide side decks protected by handrails. The Sedan has a big, bright deckhouse plus a good open cockpit, and the Express has an exceptionally large, one level cockpit with room for several lounging or fishing chairs. The trunk cabins have every facility for extended cruising. Twin power, hydraulic clutch controls and reduction drives are standard. Power choices range from 125 to 155 HP each.

The flashy "30" Express and Sport Fisherman are the outstanding cruiser values of the year. Available with handrails along the wide side decks and with folding canvas top or hard top, these new cruisers have sleeping facilities for six in the Express and two or four in the Sport Fisherman. The big, airy trunk cabins have every facility for extended cruising. Twin power, reduction drives and hydraulic clutch controls are standard. Power options range from 95 to 155 HP each

"30" Sport Fisherman . . from $12,920

Fun Fleet for

RICHARDSON

▶ From the majestic Richardson "43" Motor Yacht, Flagship of the Fun Fleet for '58, to the husky "27" Utility, every Richardson Cruiser is designed and built for your seagoing pleasure in comfort and security. This famous "43" Motor Yacht and the new Double Cabin "43" Salon Yacht bring a new concept of cruising value to pleasure boating. Their new Salon Deckhouses, with lounging and dining area and galley all on one level, plus new interior decor and furnishings, make these fine yachts the fashion leaders for cruising

Double Cabin "43" Salon Yacht . . . from $34,880

The new Richardson "40" Cruisers are available in three types, the Sedan which sleeps eight, the Express and the Custom Sport Cruiser, both of which sleep six. All "40" Cruisers have wide side decks protected by sturdy handrails. The Sedan has a large picture windowed deckhouse with a davenport which converts to a comfortable double bed. The trunk cabins of all "40" models sleep six and have complete cruising facilities. A stall shower is available as optional equipment. The "40" Custom Sport Cruiser has a fly bridge with dual controls, pilot seat on fly bridge, teak decks, high signal mast and a bow rail connected to the handrails. Cockpit has step down and low free board for ease in boating game fish. Hydraulic clutch controls and reduction drives with twin power - gasoline or Diesel — are standard equipment. Power selections range from 155 to 225 HP each.

"40" Sedan Cruiser . . . from $25,275

"35" Sedan Cruiser from $18,155

The "35" Sedan and Express Cruisers for 1958 bring many big yacht features to craft of modest size. The Sedan sleeps six and the Express four. Both have wide side decks protected by handrails. The Sedan has a big, bright deckhouse plus a good open cockpit, and the Express has an exceptionally large, one level cockpit with room for several lounging or fishing chairs. The trunk cabins have every facility for extended cruising. Twin power, hydraulic clutch controls and reduction drives are standard. Power choices range from 125 to 155 HP each.

The flashy "30" Express and Sport Fisherman are the outstanding cruiser values of the year. Available with handrails along the wide side decks and with folding canvas top or hard top, these new cruisers have sleeping facilities for six in the Express and two or four in the Sport Fisherman. The big, airy trunk cabins have every facility for extended cruising. Twin power, reduction drives and hydraulic clutch controls are standard. Power options range from 95 to 155 HP each.

Also specify brass-tipped or all-brass legs

QUALITY CONSTRUCTION

No wonder Selig modern is the choice of successful people, from Long Island to Main Street. Its expensive-looking simplicity of line makes it a distinguished background for your own gracious way of living. Selig modern is furniture you'll always be proud to own.

Every chair and sofa is cushioned in buoyant 100% Latex foam rubber—and what could be more comfortable, or hold its shape better! Covers are exquisite modern fabrics, described in detail on the opposite page. All are zipper-closed so they can be removed in a flash for cleaning.

Experienced craftsmen make the frames from the very best kiln-dried hardwood. Cross-bracing and doweled corner blocks assure extreme sturdiness. Spring seat platforms are softly padded. Every construction feature is the finest you could ask!

Special finger mechanism rotates above pick-up . . . feeds hay faster into path of Flow-Action tines . . . helps prevent clogging or jamming in even the heaviest windrows.

Here's capacity that makes light work of your heaviest windrows . . . rugged quality that stands up to day-in, day-out baling . . . gentle handling that saves protein-rich leaves!

It's all made possible because New Holland has adapted the smooth ease and speed of Flow-Action to a heavy-duty 16″ x 18″ baler. Spring-loaded telescoping tine-bar moves hay gently. No sharp corners. No auger. No wadboard. Just a smooth, easy flowing action from pick-up to chamber!

What's more, Flow-Action has fewer working parts. Extensive use of strong, light metals results in a baler that is easier to handle and Typical field trial for the great new Super Hayliner 78: Extensive tests under varying conditions of crop and terrain have proved Super Hayliner's stamina and efficiency. For example, in the hayfield above, near an airport, this new Super Hayliner 78 was put through unusually heavy, bunchy windrows. It never clogged or jammed . . . kept putting out green, leafy bales hour after hour—a clear-cut demonstration of extra bale power!

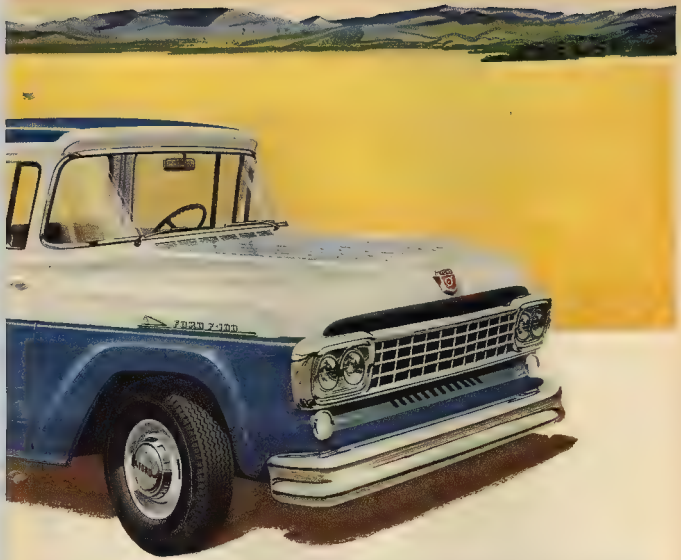
You'll reap a bumper crop of benefits from a '58

Greater pickup loadspace! It's the lowest-priced pick-up with cab-wide box, gives 23% more loadspace than the traditional pickup box. Sideloading is easier, too!

Most comfortable ride! Scientific Impact-O-Graph tests prove Ford gives you the smoothest ride of any half-tonner it's a ride mighty close to that of a car!

Gas savings up to 10%! America's most modern 6-cylinder truck engine has new economy carburetor with new vacuum control valve, improved accelerator pump system.

Safer, more comfortable cabs! Driverized cabs have inboard step, suspended pedals, Lifeguard steering wheel, double-grip door lock, Hi-Dri ventilation.



FORD PICKUP

...and low price is only one of them!

Low-cost replacement parts! Ford replacement parts prices are traditionally low . . . in many cases substantially lower than those of other truck manufacturers.

Anyone who compares price tags knows that Ford pickups are priced with the lowest. But that's just the start. Running costs are low, too. Only Ford offers economical Short Stroke power in both Six and V-8. Replacement parts prices are low, and an independent study by insurance experts proves Ford Trucks last longer. Small wonder Ford Truck resale values are traditionally high.

Look at Ford's extra values . . . smoothest ride of any pickup . . . greater loadspace . . . modern styling . . . and you'll agree there's a bumper crop of benefits in Ford for '58. See your Ford Dealer soon.

Here's how a

Costs less to buy. Just price a Ford tractor at your nearby dealer's. You'll find you save plenty over other tractors in the same power class. Then figure the cost per horsepower. Prove to yourself that a Ford tractor delivers more power per dollar—is your top power buy! But that's not all. You get more work-saving features in a Ford tractor, all at a low Ford price. Just look at the Ford tractor features listed at left—there are many more!

Costs less to operate. Your savings just begin when you buy a new Ford tractor—they continue every hour you use it. For example, new Ford "Red Tiger" engines have higher compressions to get the most power possible from today's higher octane fuels. This helps reduce your fuel bills. Then again, Ford's ingenious hydraulic linkage automatically increases traction on heavy pulls to reduce fuel-wasting wheel slippage and costly tire wear. Also, Ford's Proof-Meter shows the proper engine speed to get the most work done on the least fuel. And Ford's handy

-MINDED FARMERS WANT TO CUT COSTS!

FORD TRACTOR can save you money!

Vari-Weights can be quickly removed on lighter jobs to save fuel. All these Ford advantages cut operating costs!

Costs less to repair. One big reason a Ford saves money on repairs is because it needs fewer repairs. The exclusive low-friction design of Ford's "Red Tiger" engines greatly reduces wear. Records prove you get hundreds of extra hours before an overhaul is needed. And generous use of high-strength steel throughout Ford tractors adds a big margin of rugged durability—without the penalty of cumbersome bulk and needless weight.

Brings in more at trade-in time. It's no secret that year-in-and-year-out, used Ford tractors command higher prices on used tractor lots. That's why you can expect to get more for your used Ford tractor at trade-in time. This is another important dollar-saving advantage that reduces the cost-per-year of owning a Ford tractor. It is an indication of the lasting value built into Ford tractors, too.

Add 'em up . . . what you pay, what you get, what you save in fuel bills and repairs, what you have left at trade-in time. Then you'll know why more and more economy-minded farmers are choosing Ford—why you should, too!

So find out more from your nearby dealer. Check the facts. Arrange for a try-out at your convenience. Choose the size and type of Ford tractor that best fits your needs from the many models available. Pocket the difference!

Hold both depth and work speeding traction in tough plowing with . . .

4 more reasons why . . .
you're a BIGGER man on a new IH tractor

Plow 21 acres or more in a day with this Farmall 450 tractor and McCormick 4-furrow Fast-Hitch plow. By any measure—work per day . . . return per dollar, you're a BIGGER man on a new IH tractor.

IH TRACTION-CONTROL FAST-HITCH

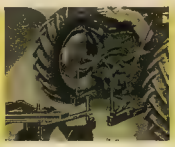
Plow your toughest spots without slippage delays or abrupt shallow-out! See how IH Traction-Control transfers weight to tractor drive wheels, as needed, to give you traction that grows with the load! This sure grip, that never gives up, helps you outplow them all with a Farmall® or International® tractor.

But you do more than gain extra rounds! Traction-Control also makes fuel and tires go farther than ever before. And its simple, mechanical linkage holds mounted plows at pre-set depth to match work quality of trailing plows. The mechanical action of IH Traction-Control, unlike hydraulic weight transfer systems, doesn't rob engine power when it's needed on a hard pull!

Traction-Control saves your back, too! You can add up to a ton of "wheel weight," as needed, without lifting a pound! Just set a handy lever to properly weight tractor drive wheels for any soil condition.

YOU'RE BIGGER with Torque Amplifier. Pull TA lever to increase drawbar pull up to 45% on-the-go, change speed instantly!

YOU'RE BIGGER with Hydra-Touch that puts hydraulic power to work in more time-saving ways . . . fully controls big equipment!



YOU'RE BIGGER with Fast-Hitch! You hitch seconds fast. Just Back . . . Click! . . . and Go! Get to every job sooner, finish every job faster!

YOU'RE BIGGER with independent pto! Now, you get "extra-engine" performance with all pto machines at no extra cost.

"You know Daddy," one of our daughters said, "we could be on that desert island in the South Pacific you're always talking about."

Never dreamt we'd get there in a 10-foot pram," I replied. "But if this is as close as we ever come to it, I won't complain."

We discovered that even a small boat can bring some very rewarding adventures, and our Sea-Shell has proven to be a lot of boat for all her small size

CHOOSING OUTBOARD ACCESSORIES WISELY

Bow and Transom Handles. Small boats are handled a lot while beaching, being hauled out, and being put into storage. Good grips on the bow and stern add to the ease and convenience of handling and in view of their modest price are highly desirable. They must be bolted on securely, for they will be subject to heavy loads

Motor Carriers While not a part of a boat, a motor carrier with small wheels is an excellent thing to have. Not only does it make moving the motor less of a physical strain, but it can save expensive repairs to the motor arising from its being dropped while being moved, or falling over when left balanced against a wall or fence

Trailers Not exactly an "accessory" a trailer is nevertheless worth mention here because it facilitates launching, hauling out and storage, and opens up vast new avenues of pleasure The fellow who has a small motor and boat and a trailer can go more places and do more interesting things than can the man who spent all his money on a larger motor and boat, and had none to buy a trailer

Remote Controls So popular and useful there is no need to elaborate on their advantages here, so a few words on their correct, sensible application will be given. Before ordering them find out from the dealer the method used in taking measurements for the particular make in question, and data on stock lengths. Choose a length which will allow ample slack at the stern so the motor may swing and tilt without placing strains on the controls or connections. Use discretion about installing remote controls forward in smaller runabouts, the weight of the driver and passenger too far forward may make the nose "dive" when slowing down or breasting waves, and the ride may be uncomfortable at high speed if the water hits the bottom of the boat at aft where the occupants are sitting. Due to the narrowness and amount of vee in the bottom father forward, leg room may be inadequate and stability poor. With a manual starting motor, choose a stern control location to put the operator near the motor.

Steerers. Used in conjunction with remote controls, the primary purpose of a steerer is to provide a reduction-gear effect between operator's hand and the motor This provides easier, more sensitive control of large motors on fast boats. A wide range of styles and mechanical arrangements is available Choose one with a mounting bracket set at such an angle that there is ample leg clearance underneath and ample knuckle clearance at the top, between the wheel rim and the dashboard, windshield, coaming, etc.; make sure all pulleys and brackets are attached to the boat with strong bolts or sturdy screws, for they are subject to sudden and severe stresses. Figure out the installation, especially the direction in which the rope is wrapped around the drum and the pulley layout, to be sure the motor will turn in the right direction when the steerer is turned Be sure the motor pivots from side to side and tilts without the lines slacking off or tightening up unduly

Extra Fuel Tanks For long-distance work you can carry two standard remote fuel tanks, or you can buy larger tanks from your dealer Do not experiment with home-made tanks or converted tanks from cars, inboard boats, airplanes, etc. The more gas that is aboard, the more important it is to lay out tank location with a critical eye towards boat balance with tanks full and tanks empty. For standard tanks, dealers sell rubber base grommets to prevent chattering and chafing and special hold-down clips.

Windshields. Some outboards have windshields for ornamental purposes only, others have them for comfort in rough and windy weather. If you want one for looks, anything which looks good will do. Remember, however, that in a small runabout your head and shoulders may be a foot above the top of an eight-inch-high windshield. You'll be looking over it, not through it! It may deflect wind and spray, or it may simply catapult deck water up into your face! A high, wood-framed windshield ahead of the forward cockpit may, when the boat is in planing attitude, obstruct the forward view of a driver sitting in the after cockpit. These things are mentioned to make you realize that each windshield installation involves careful consideration of several things. Other points to consider are cockpit and deck accessibility when anchoring, docking and beaching; extra cost of a cockpit cover with windshield pocket, size of plastic or glass as regards replacement cost and so on.

Folding Tops. A welcome piece of equipment to have when you're fishing in the broiling July sun, when an August shower comes along, or when a September wind makes fishing cold and miserable. A folding top has to be planned to fit the boat's windshield. It may fold down outside, in which case it will have to be rather large and may look awkward spread over the deck of a streamlined boat. Or it may fold inside, in which case it will of necessity have to be narrower than the windshield and presumably, the cockpit. Some boats with after decks can have the top fold down onto these decks. Strong wind may make a light boat with a folding top drift or ride at some angle of heel. Permanent tops on outboard boats up to perhaps 15 or 16 feet can be dangerous. To go forward for mooring and docking, the operator must work forward to one side or the other of the "cabin" and his weight so high and so far to one side may make a small boat capsize.

Speedometers. Useful not so much to tell how fast you're going as to observe effects on performance of various loads and various attitudes of trim. They are essentially pressure instruments, subject to variations in pressure distribution and direction of water flow under a hull. Error is generally small on light outboard boats planing freely.

Special Propellers. An outboard motor leaves the factory equipped with a stock propeller chosen as a good average one for the type of boat the motor is most likely to be used on. However, your outboard dealer can show you a list of special propellers designed to do certain jobs better. A heavy outboard cruiser should perform better with a carefully-chosen heavy-load propeller. A medium-sized outboard motor should do a better job of towing water skiers into riding position if fitted with a suitable propeller. A light runabout may produce more thrilling speed if equipped with a "speed prop." If you are dissatisfied with the performance you get out of your rig with its stock propeller, investigate a different prop before going to the drastic resort of buying a different motor!

Tachometers. Available in various forms and operating on various mechanical principles, tachometers are useful aids to the serious outboarder who wants to experiment with propellers, motor adjustments and loadings.

Lights. The Coast Guard requires outboard boats to show a combination red and green light forward, and a white light aft visible all around the horizon, when such boats are operated in darkness. Due to the planing attitude assumed by most small boats, the stern light staff is often telescopic so that it may be raised to a suitable height at night, yet lowered out of the way during the daytime. Electric-starting motors may draw on the battery for current. With manual starting motors current for lights can be drawn from a

Evinrude's 50 hp, four cylinder V the Starflite New silencing chamber encases motor from top to propeller

The electric-starting 18 hp Evinrude Fastwin has a three position safety key switch

EVINRUDE INTRODUCES V-FOURS

► Evinrude's 12 model line of 1958 outboard motors will be headed by a pair of power plants using a V-4 power head design. This marks the first year such a cylinder arrangement has been available in the outboard field. Each of the newcomers is rated at 50 hp. Known as the Starflite and the Four-Fifty, they are said to gain compactness and efficient, vibration-free operation from the horizontal placement of the four cylinders.

A new approach to silencing has been incorporated in the new "fours" as well as in the 35 hp. Lark. From top to propeller, each of these three is encased in a soundproof chamber. External parts above the gearcase are mounted solidly to the pivot bearing. The powerhead floats in rubber mounts within this silencing chamber. The exhaust tube is sealed in a nacelle to prevent the escape of noise. Motor coverings are secured positively at all joints with rubber seals. Each cover thus acts as a large air intake silencer. These covers are removable in one piece by loosening one latch. Spark plugs and carburetors are easily reached through rubber sealed doors.

The V-4 design produces a low silhouette with enhanced visibility astern and lowered center of gravity. The Starflite has electric starting; the Four Fifty manual starting.

The other motors in the Evinrude 1958 line are the 3 hp. Lightwin and its companion the 3 hp. Ducktwin; the 5.5 hp. Fisherman; the 7.5 hp. Fleetwin; the 10 hp. Sportwin; the 18 hp. Fastwin which comes in both electric and hand starting models and the 35 hp. Big Twins, available with either means of starting.

Styling of the entire line was by Brooks Stevens. Traditional Evinrude Blue has been supplanted by Commodore Blue as the predominate color. Evinrude Blue and Aqua White are used as trim on most models. Deluxe models are in greys, white and charcoal.

Cruis-a-Day fuel tanks, junction and packing boxes, remote controls and ammeters have been redesigned for '58.

Crusader Mark VII develops 220 hp. at 4400 r.p.m.

CRUSADER HAS NEW MODEL V-8S

► For the low priced, medium horsepower field there has been introduced the Crusader Mark V, rated 180 hp. at 4000 r.p.m. and capable of operating on marine white fuel. It has dual side draft carburetors, "Velvet Drive" hydraulic transmission, Jabsco dual pocket water pump, mechanically driven accessories, full flow oil filter, independent engine and transmission oil coolers and a 12 volt electrical system.

The Crusader Marine Mark VII is a 220 hp. engine containing all the features of the Mark V, plus adjustable mounts, triple dual throat vacuum operated carburetors and high speed camshaft. It too uses marine white fuel.

Model CM-300, which holds the Class F service runabout record, requires premium fuel.

For heavy duty applications there is the CM-275, designed to use marine white gasoline and available in a choice of reduction gear ratios.

CRUSADER MARINE ENGINE, 25140 Easy St., Roseville, Mich.

RUST INHIBITOR FOR STORED ENGINES

► Created to prevent internal corrosion in gasoline engines that are to be winter-stored, or left idle for some time, is Storize, a pressurized liquid which is sprayed into the carburetor air intake while the engine is running at normal speed and temperature.

It comes in a 12-oz. spray can at $1.98. A similar treatment for diesel engines will soon be available from

GEORGE A. BAKER ENGINEERING CO., 1757 Yuma St., NW, Washington, D.C.

Mercury's Mark 78 is a 70-hp. in line "six"

THREE NEW OUTBOARDS BY MERCURY

► The 1958 line of Mercury outboards consists of nine basic motors offered in 15 different models. Completely new are the 6-cyl., 66-cu. in., 70-hp. Mark 78, the 4-cyl., 44-cu in., 45-hp. Mark 58 and the 2-cyl., 22-cu. in., 22-hp. Mark 28.

A unique hydraulic mechanism is incorporated in both the 15 and 70-hp. motors. It consists of an automotive type shock absorber mounted on each side of the clamp bracket. Known as Dyna Safety Shocks, these devices cushion the kick-up and rebound resulting from striking an obstacle. While the prop is out of water during such an incident, power is automatically cut off by a special tilt switch.

Continued from last year's offerings are three twins—the 6-hp. Mark 6, 10-hp. Mark 10, and 20-hp. Mark 25, a pair of "fours"—30-hp. Mark 30 and 40-hp. Mark 35; and the six cylinder, 60-hp. Mark 75. A 12-volt electric starting model is available in 40, 45 and 60 hp. sizes. The 40, 45 and 60-hp. motors can be had with both starter and generator in 12-volt ratings. This is standard on the "70."

Both the Mark 78 and the Mark 75 have full-reversing power heads. When the single lever shift control is moved to forward, the motor revolves in one direction, with the control in reverse the motor operates in the other direction.

The Mark 28 has an automatic transmission which provides one-hand operation of both throttle setting and shifting, combined in the twist-grip steering handle. The slanted design of the Mark 28, patterned after that of the Mark 10, is to assist in gliding over obstacles. Its propeller hub exhaust outlet is designed to bury exhaust gas and noise in the propeller slipstream.

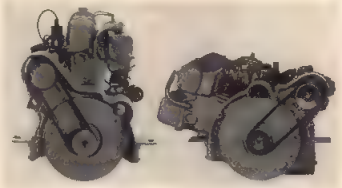
This 10 hp. Mercury is designed for the fisherman



Conventional upright and inclined "Spacemaker" versions of Palmer's 120 hp. engine. "Spacemaker" measures only 12¾ in. above crankshaft center. Available as true pairs, the inclined versions have all accessories directly beneath engine hatch for accessibility.

EIGHT ENGINES BY PALMER

► The Palmer line for 1958 will include seven basic sizes of singles, fours, sixes and eights. Completely new will be inclined versions of two of the six-cylinder engines which will be available as true "pairs."

Smallest Palmer is the 23 cu. in., 6 hp., water-cooled Baby Huskie—25. The 4-cylinder IH-60 is offered in both 16 hp. and 22 hp. versions. PH-134 is a light, 4-cylinder 60 hp. high speed model. Model IH-240 turns out 120 hp. while the similar IH 264, with slightly larger displacement, develops 135 hp. Both are sixes. The IH-308, also with six cylinders, is rated at 150 hp.

Palmer's IH-V-8 engine, model 461 is 57½ in. long and weighs 1,600 lbs. including inboard fresh water cooling and hydraulic reverse and reduction gear. It is rated at 250 hp.

The inclined motors will be based on the IH-240 and IH 264 power plants and are claimed to have the lowest silhouette of any available engine of similar power.

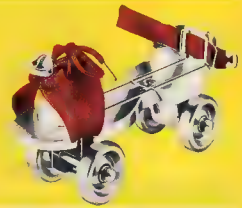
"TOT TAILORED" SKATES

#10 TRAINER

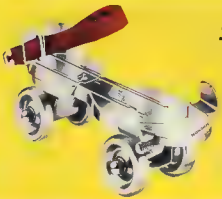
A new skate built for the smallest tots. This non-ball bearing skate has wheels mounted directly on the axle. A beginner's skate designed to start the toddler—with no key to lose and no toe clamps to tighten. Engineered and designed to fit small shoes. Now, for the first time a beginner's skate equipped with rubber wheels, containing the same noise-dampening qualities as the tires on a car. These rubber wheels are non-staining, non-marking on cement or wooden floors and will not make the racket generally associated with steel wheels. Use indoors or outside. The friction quality of rubber being greater than steel means there is less likelihood of side-slipping and the medium hardness reduces the speed to make for safe and easy skating. This is not a fast wheel. Red ankle straps with non-slipping buckles to assure safe gripping. Laced red Vinyl plastic toe straps to protect the shoes. Chime tone bells. Extension from 6⅜" to 7⅞". Shipping weight per container of 12 pairs—20 lbs.

#20 ADVANCED TRAINER

Rigid construction with eight full size ball bearings in each steel wheel. Designed as the initial ball bearing skate for all children. Extension 6⅜" to 7⅞". Laced red Vinyl plastic toe straps to protect the shoes. Chime tone bells. Red ankle straps with non-slipping buckles to assure safe gripping. No key needed. No toe clamps to tighten. Shipping weight per container of 12 pairs — 23 lbs.



#30 JUNIOR



For the first time a new "tiny tot" skate designed with detachable toe clamps and interchangeable laced red Vinyl plastic toe straps protecting the shoe. Chime tone bells. Rigid construction with eight full size ball bearings in each steel wheel. Easily managed red ankle straps with non-slipping buckles. Toe clamp extension 2¼" to 3-3/16". Skate extension — 6⅜" to 7⅞". This is the first all-purpose junior skate offered with both toe clamps and toe straps permitting its use with thin and conventional thick-soled shoes. No more damage to children's shoes by improper fitting or lack of proper shoes to roller skate for maximum pleasure. Shipping weight per container of 12 pairs — 25 lbs.

told about our motor the night before had their base mechanic aboard with his tools, eager to repair it

We had given La Fe as a mail forwarding port, so I was elected to go up to town for the mail. The moment I left the dock, which was a part of a Cuban Naval Base I found myself surrounded by every youngster in the town. It was apparent that tourists never visit this part of Cuba, for all children gleefully pointed to my shorts and followed me from point to point as though I were a man from Mars.

This was the first and only port I have visited in Cuba where I have been unable to find anyone who could speak English. It was quite apparent that we would be unable to find the food we needed in La Fe, a tiny village with thatched roof huts. So I tried to find someone who either would rent a car or tell me where I could get one to take us to Mendoza, a city some 20 miles to the east. In spite of my repeated efforts, with many gesticulations, the natives could not understand what I wanted. Then I saw a grocery truck parked by the roadside. I asked the driver whether he was going to Mendoza by pointing down the road and repeating the name of the city. He nodded, so I climbed up on the seat beside him. After he had made a few more deliveries, he drove down the road at top speed, attempting to carry on a conversation through sign language en route.

Mendoza, compared with La Fe, appeared quite a flourishing city. My driver friend pulled up alongside of a very respectable grocery store. Fortunately, the manager spoke English, and as soon as I told him we wanted to buy a supply of groceries for the boat he was all smiles and eager to help. He located a car and we made a deal with its owner to rent it for the next two days, with a driver, at a reasonable figure.

The proprietor of our grocery store made arrangements for us to have dinner later that evening in Guane, a small town a few miles from Mendoza, at what he assured me was a famous restaurant. Upon returning to La Fe, I found that our Cuban mechanic had located the trouble and our engine was running again. Our water tanks had been filled, the boat put in order, and all hands were eager to explore the countryside.

The dinner at Guane lived up to its advance billing in every respect. The proprietor outdid himself supplying course after course of Cuban dishes, with a different type of wine with each course. After many days of informal eating aboard ship this superlative service, coupled with the strange Cuban dishes, was very exciting.

We obtained a good assortment of food from our grocer friend at Mendoza, but in spite of his best efforts were unable to locate any ice. Finally our driver suggested that we try a Cuban military flying school located on the road between La Fe and Mendoza, which he said had its own ice plant and would be glad to help us out. So on our way from Mendoza to La Fe we stopped at the school entrance and told the guard we wanted to see the Commandant. We were quickly ushered into the office of a fine and friendly Cuban gentleman. Within a few minutes we had 150 pounds of ice in the back of the car. In spite of our best efforts he refused to let us pay for it.

On Saturday morning, March 16th, we said goodbye to our Navy friends at La Fe and sailed out to the banks of Bahia Guadiana. The trades were blowing fresh north by east as we beat to windward up the western shore for Cayo Buenavista. When about halfway there our Cuban Navy friends hove in sight, circling us twice at full speed in their crash boat and shouting goodbye. At three in the afternoon we anchored in the lee of the south shore of Cayo Buenavista in a fathom of water.

The passage to sea off the banks to the northwest of Cayo Buenavista is intricate and dotted with coral heads. The 107-foot lighthouse on Cayo Buenavista is an excellent beacon on which to take bearings, and the chart shows a buoy marking the entrance. Our experience with buoys shown on the charts of these waters had made us skeptical, so before leaving we worked out courses and distances which, with the aid of bearings on the lighthouse would avoid the coral heads without the help of the entrance buoy.

With a lookout on the bow, we carefully ran each of these courses under power, checking distance on our taffrail log and depths with the Fathometer. It was fortunate that we took these precautions, because we found no buoy to guide us through the passage. Soon we were safe in deep water and beginning our beat to windward for Miami, 360 miles away.

With real regret we left the Banks of Golfo De Guanacabibe for our limited time schedule had prevented exploring its many bights, cays and inlets. There is almost 100 miles of protected shoal water for cruising on the Banks extending west from Bahia Honda to Cape San Antonio, within easy reach from Florida, yet we had not seen a single cruising boat in these waters. The schooner sighted off Long Point in the Bahamas, the motor sailer at Port San Antonio, Jamaica, and the schooner Valor, sighted off Cabo Corrientes, were the only yachts we had seen enjoying these perfect cruising waters since leaving Nassau.

There is an exhilaration and a feeling of freedom in getting to sea after having been ashore or in confined waters. The weather was warm and clear. The trades were blowing fresh north by east, giving us a fine beat with our lee rail just awash under No. 2 jib, single reefed main and mizzen. Revonoc too, reveled in this blue water sailing in which the long rollers of the open ocean had replaced the steep chop of the banks.

We sailed out to sea on the starboard tack until noon then came about and held the port tack until the Cuban shore was sighted again. By working to windward along the coast we hoped to pick up the evening land breeze that would enable us to sail our course to the eastward without tacking. At 2225, approaching the coast on the port tack, we ran into a flat spot, then a header. We came about on the starboard tack and were able to lay up the shore northeast by east ½ east. The evening land breeze had just reached out to us. At 0245 a choppy and confused sea indicated that the Gulf Stream was now under us. The land breeze combined with the favorable current, was taking us fast over the bottom toward Miami.

At 0900 Monday, March 18th, we sighted two large yawls to leeward and a big sloop ahead, all hard on the wind, headed for Havana. These were Class A contestants in the St. Petersburg-Havana Race. We, too, were hard on the wind so could easily be mistaken for a small Class B contestant by the crews of these yachts. We got such a kick out of the thought that the crews of these larger yachts undoubtedly assumed that they were being beaten by a Class B boat that to sustain the illusion, we stayed on the port tack until they were hull down on the horizon.

We worked out of the trades into a fine southeasterly Monday evening. With the wind broad off our beam and a current of between 3¾ and 4 knots under us, we made record time on the remainder of our run, tying up at the Miami yacht dock before 10 o'clock the next morning.

The Customs, Health, and Immigration officials coming aboard with their reams of paper reminded us that our cruise was ended. We all wished we were just starting down the cut for the Yellow Banks and ports south on this cruise that had delivered everything sailing men dream about.

SWIM SUIT BY COLE OF CALIFORNIA

For the man who wants to be king...

THE FABULOUS 40 HP ROYAL SCOTT

You are the proudest skipper afloat with Scott-Atwater's superb new Royal Scott 40 hp. For nowhere in all the world of water can a man command a finer, more luxurious outboard motor—at any price!

One look and you lose your heart to the Royal Scott's bold, sweeping lines, to her lustrous Imperial Pearl finish, elegantly accented in gun-metal gray and chrome. Her custom-engraved owner's name plate adds a quiet touch of distinction.

One twist of your key (she starts just like your car) and you discover that beauty is more than hood-deep with this peerless performer. A built-in generator (standard equipment) keeps your battery brimming with bounce to give you instant starting, to power the electric fuel pump, to permit the use of running lights and other accessories if you like. A sturdy, stylish, battery box is yours, too—at no extra cost. Standard or long lower units are available to suit your boat. And remember, only Scott-Atwater outboards suit your boat—automatically!

One touch of the throttle and she leaps to life—a thunderbolt of smooth power, muffled by the most effective silencing system in the outboard industry. As you cruise, Scott-Atwater's Economizer carburetor spends your fuel thriftily—then opens wide for lightning acceleration and blazing full forty-horsepower* speed.

One breathtaking ride and you know, unmistakably: this outboard makes you king of the waters!

The fabulous Royal Scott heads a fleet of 10 outstanding outboards from 3.6 to 40 hp. See them now at your nearby Scott-Atwater dealer's. You'll find him in the Yellow Pages of your telephone book. A handsome 28-page booklet in full-color is yours, free, upon request. Ask your dealer, or write Dept. MB-18, Scott-Atwater Mfg.Co., Minneapolis 13, Minn. Read the full details and specifications of every model. Find out for yourself why Scott-Atwater guarantees you...

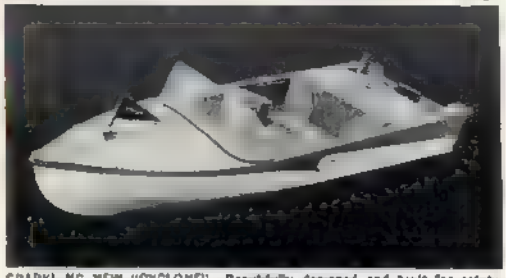
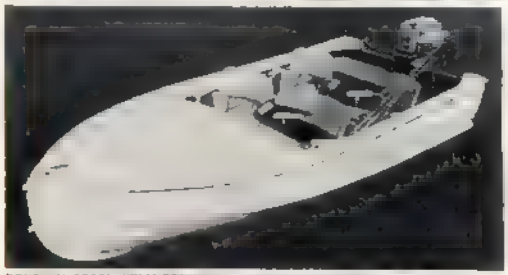
Pere Marquette

Fiberglas Boat Franchise

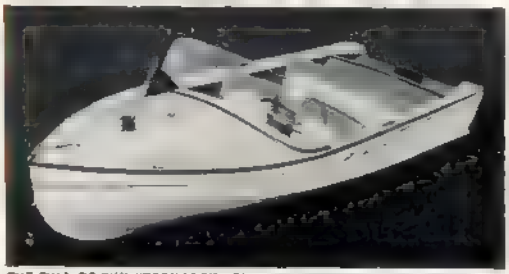
There's lots of fun and profit selling the top quality Fun Fleet for '58—Pere Marquette's "PLIGLAS" laminated Fiberglas boats which restore the true distinction of a boat dealership. There is no need to settle for less than the best of today's boats in the small craft field—Pere Marquette—leader in Laminated Fiberglas construction and design.



SPARKLING NEW "CYCLONE"—Beautifully designed and built for safety. A dramatic boat of high speeds with smaller motors but rated to 100 H.P. 3 molded-in Fiberglas keels hold the craft fast in sharp turns and you ride on top of the water, not through it. With wide molded in spray-rails, there's no slopping water. Length 15 1"—Beam 64"—Transom 68"—Weight 440 lbs.



DOLPH N GREEN "FISHERMAN"—A sister to the "Cyclone". All advantages of "Pliglas" laminated Fiberglas construction, as the "Cyclone", though lighter in weight. This boat is rated as a safe family runabout with motors up to 35 H.P. Length 15 1"—Beam 64"—Transom 68"—Weight 320 lbs. Dealers here's a boat for a package deal of trailer, motor and boat at about $1,000.00.



THE FULL-OF-FUN "TORNADO"—Place your confidence in this boat as a top profit general runabout. As shown this boat has tremendous possibilities for additional sales of accessories. Length 15 1" Beam 64"—Transom 68"—Weight 400 lbs. Has molded-in Fiberglas sprayrails and 3 keels. A fast racy boat, ideal for resorts and water sports.

COMPLETING THE FLEET OF "PLIGLAS" LAMINATED BOATS

CANOES for Boy Scouts, fishermen, hunters, trappers and explorers. All have their place in the life of "Outdoormen". All laminated Fiberglas cloth with Styrofoam Flotation, making them safer, easier to handle and more efficient in the water.

VACATIONER are the utility fishing boats of the fleet. Designed for and built of carefree, maintenance-free Fiberglas, these boats were intended for resorts and liveries. They have found their way to the hearts of all fishermen. 12'—14' and 16' lengths, rated to 35 H.P. motors.

FEATHERWEIGHT BINOCULARS FROM GERMANY

PRODUCTS OF S. E. LASZLO HOUSE OF IMPORTS

6 POWER 8 POWER 10 POWER

Power or magnification means that whatever you are looking at through your binoculars is that many times larger than when seen by your unaided eye.

Optical Performance. How sharp, clear and bright an object is seen, is just as important as how big it appears. These precision German binoculars are the lightest weight and most rugged available, and they perform like the fine instruments they are. Unlike ordinary binoculars, they are more highly corrected for distortion, aberration, curvature, color and definition than lower priced mass produced binoculars. High light transmission and contrast make it possible to use these fine German binoculars at low illumination levels, such as dusk, shade or night, where ordinary binoculars are less satisfactory.

V.I.P. Set. A fabulous gift for that really special person. Wide angle binocular and folding opera glass set . . . both fit in single custom made case with lock and key. Genuine German 7 x 35 binocular with center focus and individual eye adjustment. All optical surfaces are 100% hard coated. Featherweight magnesium body . . . weighs only 16¾ ounces. Wide field of view 405 feet at 1,000 yards, amazing 86% light transmission. When used separately 2½ power folding opera glass fits into her evening bag or his pocket. Shipping weight 4 pounds. CRUISER

Whether you've had long experience with cabin cruisers, or merely a nodding acquaintance, you could point out some vitally needed changes for the better. A change in headroom and elbow room. A change in sleeping comforts and galley conveniences. A change in exterior styling, to a stunningly different "new look".

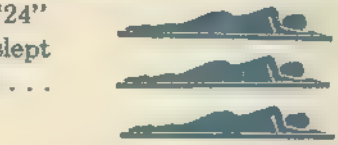
Owens, pioneer of progress in pleasure boating, has now turned all these changes, and many more, into one dramatic "big change" . . . the most completely new boat in years . . . so new that, when this magazine went to press, we couldn't even show you her picture.

First, Owens gave her the seaworthiness of the high-performance, mahogany-framed HRV hull. Owens powered her with the phenomenal 220 h.p. Flagship Marine V-8 engine. Then Owens commissioned Raymond Loewy Associates, world-famous designers, to make the "24" Continental uniquely functional to live aboard . . . uniquely beautiful to be seen aboard . . . uniquely exciting to cruise aboard.

She's the "big change" in boat value, too . . . made possible only by Owens' revolution in boat-building. You'll find it hard to believe that so much unprecedented cruiser luxury can be yours for $5995 . . . delivered U.S.A., through Owens dealers only.

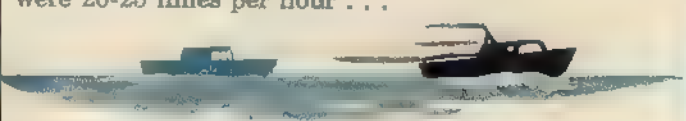
Owens Yacht Co., Inc., P.O. Box 4051, Baltimore 22, Md.

Where a "24" normally slept only three . . .



you now sleep 4 to 5 adults . . . in perfect comfort!

Where average top speeds were 20-25 miles per hour . . .



the new Flagship V-8 engine gives you much higher cruising speeds . . . with money-saving regular marine gasoline!

to save you plenty!

As you look over the wide assortment of Ford quick-attached tools shown here, you'll probably spot at least two or three that you could put to good use right now. Make a note of them. Look them over at your Ford tractor dealer's. Price them. You'll be surprised how little they cost—typical Ford values!

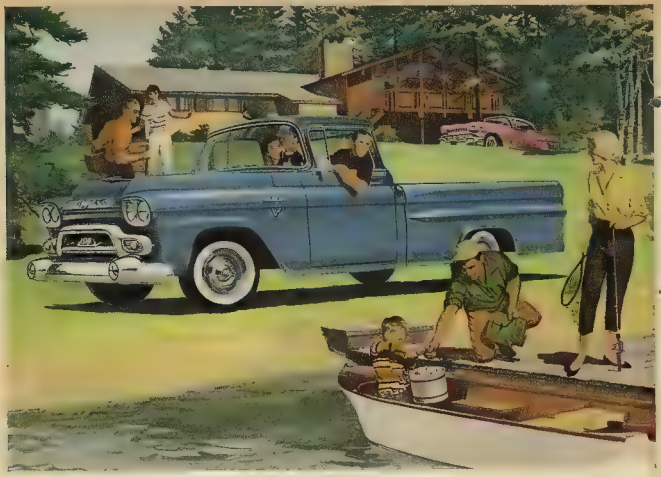
All Ford tools are matched for top performance with Ford tractors. They also fit many other tractors with 3-point hitch. Naturally, they work best with Ford tractors because Fords have the kind of hydraulic system and hitch that get the best from these tools.

So when choosing your next tractor, it is important to keep in mind that you'll have a wider assortment of matched, quick-attached tools when you choose Ford.

In addition to the rear-attached tools shown here, Ford also offers front-mounted cultivators, planters, loaders and corn pickers ... many pull-type and semi-mounted implements ... power-matched balers, combines and forage harvesters. And today, you have a wide choice of Ford tractor models to best fit your power needs and your type of farming—and your pocketbook. Easy terms!

FORD

IMPLEMENTS HAVE DEPENDABILITY BUILT IN



The beauty is "free"— you just pay for ability

NEW WIDE-SIDE BODY with 50% more cargo space! Now an extra-cost option in 6½′ length with 20 extra cubic feet; in 8′ length with 25 extra feet — THE LARGEST BODIES OF THEM ALL!

BUILT LIKE THE BIG ONES. GMC's light-duties benefit from the same methods and materials used in the giant haulers for which GMC is famous.

IT'S THE NEW "DOUBLE-LIFE" GMC

THOSE SLEEK LINES and dashing looks carry no price tag. Every dollar of a GMC's cost is for superior materials, mechanical excellence and extra features.

And if that cost is a few dollars more than average trucks — it's actually money in the bank for you.

For there's nothing dainty about this light-duty. Its engine has the biggest block in its class — its rear axle is the heftiest — its rear springs have less "give" under load — and its front frame construction is equal to a 3½-tonner's.

See how soon things like these shrink a GMC's cost. See that GMC price tag prove out to be the lowest in the field

For in a dozen ways, a GMC will repay your investment fast with its unsurpassed ability to save you money. Have your GMC dealer go over them with you.

International is a one-word promise that a truck can do its job.

A promise kept for 51 years.

Now, in fast-moving 1958, International also means a fresh, original expression of color, style, power, and comfort you have to see in person to believe.

NO OTHER TRUCKS LINE UP... MEASURE UP... STAND UP... LIKE INTERNATIONALS

* More models, power choices and "ta lored-for-you" features than any other make.
* First choice of professional truck operators, who most have superb quality and who measure costs to the penny.
* Every part designed to do a truck's job. It's truck qual-ity, pure and simple, that keeps an INTERNATIONAL going — longer — at least cost to you.

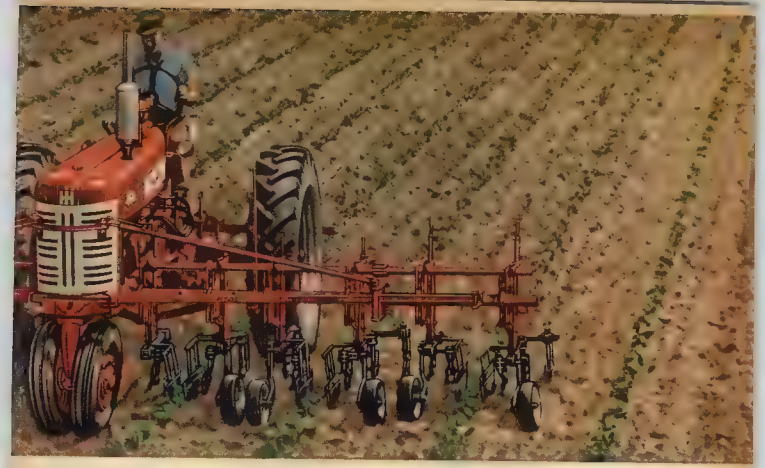
4 more reasons why . . .
you're a BIGGER man
on a new IH tractor



You boss BIG power with a "soft touch" on

IH REACH-EASY CONTROLS...

You pilot a big Farmall® or International® tractor with finger and toe-touch ease! Even a hairpin turn, like the one just ahead of this new McCormick® 6-row cultivator, is a snap!

A pull on the Torque Amplifier lever slows travel 30% for a full power turn. The heel of your hand pushes up to three "move-and-forget" hydraulic levers to instantly raise cultivator gangs. A touch on one of the side-by-side brake pedals . . . a one-handed turn of power-assisted steering wheel, and you pivot turn into the next rows quick as a wink!

Gear changing is car-easy with "soft pedal" clutch and natural-pattern shifting. Roomy, cushioned seat provides a "close-up" view of your work. Only IH gives you such complete job control—so easily—to make you a BIGGER man on a new IH tractor!

Save shift-down delays! Just pull Torque Amplifier lever to get up to 45% more pull-power.

Fully-control big implements, instantly, with a finger touch on handy Hydra-Touch hydraulic controls.

3. First in Payload. Advance Dodge construction lets you haul up to ½ more without overloading. You save trips, time, fuel.

4. First in Economy. New Dodge Power Giant engines—both V-8's and Sixes—give peak performance and top mileage on regular gas. Exclusive Dodge Power-Dome V-8 design virtually puts an end to harmful power-robbing carbon deposits. Because of these facts—plus a lot more—deciding on which new '58 truck to buy is as simple as testing a Power Giant . . . and getting your dealer's special Dodge Truck 40th-anniversary deal. As simple as that!

DODGE Power Giants

Easy to operate: adjustable controls give you complete command right from the tractor seat!

In any forage crop...

Nothing chops so fast!

Micro-Shear Cutter head gives faster, cleaner chopping. Straight knives of hardened steel are mounted at an angle on a cylinder . . . cut material cleanly in forward, downward motion . . . blow chopped material through adjustable spout. You can sharpen knives without taking them out of the machine. Cutter head is shear-bolt protected. New Holland Machine Company Division of Sperry Rand Corporation, New Holland, Pennsylvania.

Only New Holland's "800" Forage Harvester can chop a full 45 tons per hour. Quality construction pays off in years of dependable service.

You'll probably never need to call upon your mighty "800" to deliver its full rated capacity. But you'll always be sure of getting even your toughest chopping jobs done on time. That tremendous capacity means the "800" has the power and stamina to keep right on going hour-after-hour even in wind-flattened row crops and your toughest, thickest grasses and legumes.

Direct-line delivery of crop from attachment to wagon means that material travels a shorter distance. You get better quality silage . . . use less power.

There's a wide choice of attachments: 6- or 8-foot direct cut, 1- or 2-row corn head, and 6-foot windrow. Roller chain is used exclusively throughout the "800" and attachments. Choice of power: 69 h.p. Continental engine or P.T.O.

And the "800" is built rugged for years of dependable service. See it at your dealer's today!

These four-way leaders of the low-priced three make your truck choice easier than ever in '58

Comparing before you buy a new truck is just sound business. This year especially—because there's a big difference between '58 models.

For one thing, only Dodge is really new. But more important is this fact: Dodge Power Giants now lead the low-priced three all four ways—

1. First in Styling. Striking new chrome grilles, smart dual headlights, and clean new lines mark these dependable, low-cost '58 Power Giants as the most modern trucks of all!

2. First in Power—in all popular farm models. New Super-Torque engines provide reserve power for more pep in traffic, more pull in mud and over rough ground. Also eliminates costly engine strain—cuts repair bills, lost work time.

Chris-Craft SEA SKIFFS FOR 1958

Here's round-bilge boating at its best

...with a bonus of lapstrake strength and performance!

Get ready for he-man boating in a new 1958 Chris-Craft Sea Skiff. More models, more features, more built-in confidence than any other boat in its class!

Every Chris-Craft Sea Skiff features the traditional performance of a round-bilge design — instant response and maneuverability . . . handling ease . . . a soft-cushioned ride, PLUS all the advantages of sturdy lapstrake construction to give you the fastest, driest, most seaworthy ride ever built into a round-bilge boat!

One secret of the strength and performance of every Chris-Craft Sea Skiff is in the exclusive synthetic-rubber-based Sea Skiff Sealer. It provides Sea Skiffs with exceptional durability and watertightness, yet allows the strakes to remain flexible and "work" in rough water.

So visit your Chris-Craft Sea Skiff dealer. See the new 1958 open models, fly bridge cruisers, semi-enclosed cruisers, convertible sedan, and fishing-bridge models — 18 ft. through 40 ft. — for fishing, water sports, cruising and utility work. Select your power from a wide choice of engines; and tailor your Sea Skiff to your individual boating plans from the big selection of optional accessories. And ask for your free copy of the new full color Sea Skiff Catalog. Do it today!

You get quality features at no extra cost on every Sea Skiff

Fuel tank vented overboard, with two fuel shut-off valves, copper fuel lines, ventilated bilges.

Husky 18-ft. Open Sea Skiff gives a soft-cushioned ride at all speeds, with exceptional ease of handling. Top speeds to 31 mph, engines to 105 hp. Toilet, folding top, icebox or fishbox are available as optional extras.

All Sea Skiffs have bronze underwater parts. Cleats, chocks, and other trim and fittings are chromium-plated.

Reliable worm-and-pinion steering, with rod to bronze rudder, gives instant response, positive control at all speeds.

Bronze shoe protects propeller. Standard equipment on all 18-ft., 22-ft., and 26-ft. open models.

Seams and joints in Sea Skiff hulls are banded with exclusive Chris-Craft Sea Skiff Sealer for watertightness and flexibility.

Sturdy skeg protects bottom, guards against damage from hidden underwater obstructions.

ALL SLEDS SHIPPED TWO IN A BUNDLE

S. L. ALLEN & CO., INC., 5th Street and Glenwood Ave., Phila. 40, Pa.

YANKEE CLIPPER SLEDS

MADE BY THE MAKERS OF

New as tomorrow . . . fleet as the wind . . . Yankee Clipper sleds are streamlined, rakish, speedy . . . combining the most modern features of design and style with a proven construction for safety and dependability.

New as Tomorrow

The spring steel runners are grooved for speed and safety, and turned over at the ends to eliminate sharp edges. The heavy reinforced standards absorb shock and side strain. The all-steel front is strong and shock-resisting.

All wood parts are selected white ash, smartly decorated in a modern design, finished with clear varnish. The runners and standards are a new shade of chinese red, making a handsome contrast with the black enameled steel front and light wood.

Yankee Clipper sleds are all racing models . . . lower in back than in front . . . and tapering back from the rounded bumper in true streamline style. Handsome and modern in appearance . . . light in weight but strong and sturdy in construction . . . Yankee Clipper sleds set a new standard for popular priced sleds.

1958 OUTBOARD MOTORS

EVINRUDE

A new concept of marine engineering, the use of V motors in the outboard field, result of 10 years' research, was introduced by Evinrude Motors, Milwaukee, Wis., in recent months.

Evinrude's 50 hp, four-cylinder V's open a new age of "silent outboarding." The V motors head a line of 12 outboards introduced by Evinrude for 1958.

The nation's oldest outboard manufacturer has refined the V principle, successful in automobiles, by horizontal placement of four cylinders, producing a compact, efficient, vibration-free engine.

With its two 50 hp V's—the Starflite and the Four-Fifty—Evinrude fulfills maximum power requirements of runabouts, utilities, workboats and cruisers.

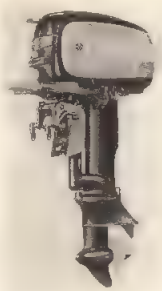
A new principle of quiet adapted to the V's has also been extended to Evinrude's Lark, the 35 hp model which appears with numerous refinements.

The quiet operating features of the Lark and the two V's result from the manner in which the motors are mounted and their motor covers sealed.

From hood to propeller, each motor is completely muted within a soundproof chamber. Outside parts above the gear case are mounted solidly to the pivot bearing; the powerhead is floated on rubber mounts within this outer shell. The exhaust tube is sealed in a silencing nacelle to prevent the escape of noise.

Motor covers are secured positively at all points with rubber seals. Thus, each cover acts as a large air intake silencer, reducing engine noise to a minimum. The motor covers are removable in one piece with only one latch to loosen. Spark plugs and carburetor are readily accessible through a rubber-sealed door.

In both the Starflite and the Four Fifty, Evinrude has upended the V cylinder block, producing an engine that is compact, with a low silhouette. In addition, motor housings cover such normally-exposed instruments as choke and speed control knobs. The Starflite is an electric-starting motor; the Four Fifty, a standard rope-start model.



Three-position safety switch has been adapted for use on the electric-start Evinrude 18-hp Fashion outboard motor for '58.

In addition to the Starflite, the Four Fifty and the Lark, Evinrude brings back its two 35 hp Big Twins, each with refinements in both the electric and rope-start versions.

The remainder of the Evinrude line spans a range from three to 18 horsepower. The motors are: the versatile 3 hp Lightwin; its companion, the 3 hp Ducktwin; the 5.5 hp Fisherman; the 7.5 hp Fleetwin; the 10 hp Sportwin; and the 18 hp Fastwin, available in both standard and electric-start models.

The entire Evinrude line has been styled by Brooks Stevens, Milwaukee. Mr. Stevens is well-known for his rendition of the Evinrude Lark runabout and the circular Evinrude Fisherman.

A rich Commodore Blue replaces the traditional Evinrude Blue as the predominant color of the 1958 line. The Evinrude Blue is retained as trim with Aqua White on most of the new motors; deluxe models of the '58 line emphasize the use of grays, white and charcoal.

Newly-designed plastic emblems and decals appear on all motors in Evinrude's '58 line; three-dimensional decals are featured on all deluxe models. Evinrude's equipment such as Cruis-a-Day fuel tanks, junction and packing boxes, remote controls and ammeters has been redesigned for '58.

OLIVER

New colors to complement any boat—a combination of Beach White and Marlin Gray—are the principal external changes in the 1958 line of Oliver outboard motors. A choice of four colors will be available on the 35-hp Oliver. Beach White, Sunset Red, Riviera Blue and Tahiti Yellow.

New lines of the 6-hp utilize a "sheer line" design in which the top of the motor is thrust forward. The lower portion of the hood juts to the rear. With a handhold which the operator may easily reach, the motor is easily tilted up when entering shallows and beaching the boat.

The 6 and 35-hp models have the Filt-a-Matic motor-angle adjustment which enables the operator to maintain complete control of the motor angle from inside the boat and without tilting the motor.

Oliver's Mix-Matic fuel tank, by which oil and gasoline are automatically proportioned in an accurate ratio despite the amount of fuel remaining in the tank, is standard with the 16 and 35-hp motors, available on the 6-hp at extra cost. The Mix Matic tank eliminates excess smoking, hard starting, "fouled" spark plugs and undesirable exhaust odors.

A magneto-alternator system, the Bendix Scintilla, on the Oliver 35, is back

The 50-hp, four-cylinder Evinrude Starflite operates on the vee principal, produces efficient, powerful, vibration-free engine.

The Oliver 35 offers many popular features including electrical power for accessories and automatic fuel mixing type of tank.

Oliver's 6-hp outboard motor has Tilt-a-Matic adjustment which allows full-control of motor angle adjustment from inside the boat.

again in 1958. This has all the advantages of a low-tension, high-energy aircraft-type ignition system; provides both A.C. and D.C. for all engine requirements and acts as a generator to provide energy for lights, horn and other electrical accessories besides the ability to re-charge the battery

The 35-hp incorporates automotive-type poppet valves, providing easy starting, better fuel injection, reduction in overall size and improved economy of operation.

Oliver's Dura Drive design of lower units is standard on all models. The design features compactness, increased power and simplified, pre-assembly to provide streamlining of the gear housing, longer life for component parts and ease of service.

Siphon-principle fuel pumps used again in 1958 on all Oliver motors do not require pressurized fuel tanks.

Lower unit extension for higher transoms will be available on all models. Owners of larger cruisers and commercial users as well as owners of new boat models now being produced with 20-inch transoms will provide the principal market for the extensions.

Oliver's re-styled 1958 line is keyed to color. Marlin Gray will be used for the lower units of the motors and part of the hoods. Beach White will be the standard complementary trim.

JOHNSON

Kingpin of Johnson Motors' 1958 line is a 50 hp four-cylinder V design engine. Completely new in engineering concept, the Johnson V-4—most powerful in its line of eleven engines ranging upward from 3 horsepower—is compact, super-quiet and so vibration-free a glass will rest atop it at full throttle in actual boating use.

By applying the V principle to the two-cycle outboard motor, Johnson has been able to balance one bank of pistons against the other, reducing not only vibration and noise but also achieving compactness and enabling use of a shorter efficient crankshaft.

Despite its load-lugging 70.7 cubic-inch piston displacement, the Johnson V-4 performs with only a kitten-quiet hum due to airtight sealing of its cover to the waterline and mounting of the motor to its cover with vibration-muffling sponge rubber.

The Johnson V-4 has a twin-barrel down-draft carburetor with only one lever to handle the high-speed fuel-air adjustment, a completely new thermostat-controlled recirculating water cooling system, a device to save fuel at cruising speeds, a built-in fuel pump, and three new tilt features—spring-loaded tilt to assist for ease in raising the lower unit from the water, a tilt-lock for use when trailing the boat, and a tilt-lock for holding the motor out of the water during long mooring periods.

Available in either electric or manual

Johnson's popular fishing model, the 5½ hp Sea Horse, is re styled for '58. Features include slip-clutch and full-range shift.

starting models, the Super Sea-Horse 50 will accommodate a Power-Master generator, sold as an accessory. Spark plugs may be changed through rubber sealed access ports without removing the hood.

In addition to the 50's, Johnson has introduced a completely new Super Sea-Horse 35, an electric starting motor with most of the features on the 50's, including "super quiet drive" silencing, key starting, tilt locks, fuel pump, thermostat, anti-friction bearings, lifting rings and attachments for a generator.

Johnson also offers electric- and manual-starting versions of the Sea-Horse 35, restyled to harmonize with the rest of the 1958 line. Rounding out the line are a key-switch started electric 18, a manual 18, and motors of 10, 7½, 5½ and 3 horsepower, all of them restyled, and the 10 horsepower model weighing in at just 65½ pounds—seven under last year due to a redesigned lower unit.

A vee outboard engine, Johnson's Super Sea Horse 50 is the deluxe model of two 4-cylinder, 50-hp V's Johnson will market.

SCOTT-ATWATER

The new line of Scott-Atwater outboard motors includes ten models and a range of sizes, from the lightweight 3.6 hp Scotty, suitable for prams, dinghies or canoes, to the 40-hp Royal Scott.

Styling and color treatment were developed by Raymond Loewy Associates, Inc industrial designers, in keeping with the modern trend toward clean, sweeping lines and bold colors to complement or harmonize with the boat

All models from 7½ through 40 hp except the Royal Scott which has its own special color scheme, have streamlined hoods of sound-deadening and dent-resistant molded fiberglass in a choice of six colors—red, aquamarine, yellow, coral blue and white. The hoods are interchangeable, making it easy to match the buyer's boat or preference.

The 40-hp has all the quality features of the regular 40-hp Scott-Atwaters; plus turn-key starting without priming; electric fuel pump; all-metal battery box; owner's engraved nameplate; and a special finish in pearl, gray and chrome

Other features of the Royal Scott are a 12-volt electrical system, with built-in generator; power bailer, that pumps up to 300 gallons per hour; three-jet economizer carburetor; Aquamute underwater exhaust; Hush-spring mounts; air intake silencer; full gearshift; enclosed controls; remote, non-pressurized fuel tank; built-in remote control connections; and sound-deadening fiberglass hood.

The 40-hp Super Scott is available with either pushbutton electric starting or manual starter. The electric-starting model has a 12-volt electrical system with built in generator

Both models have Bail-a-Matic power bailing; economizer carburetor; Aquamute underwater exhaust, Hush-spring mounts; air intake silencer; full gear shift; enclosed controls; non-pressurized remote fuel tank; remote control connections; and sound-absorbing fiberglass

The Fishing Scott by Scott-Atwater weighs 60 pounds. It has a sound-deadening fiberglass hood.

The 60-horsepower Flying Scott is newest addition to the Scott-Atwater line of 1958 motors.

hoods in six interchangeable colors.

The 22-hp Sports Scott combines light weight and moderate cost with speeds up to 35 mph, ample power for water skiing, quiet operation and smooth acceleration. It offers easier steering, new cushioned rubber mounts, air-intake silencer, water-muffled exhaust, new "Double V" intake valves for faster pick-up and power hauling. Sports Scott is available with manual or pushbutton electric starting. Electric starting models have 12-volt electrical system with built-in generator. All models have twist-grip throttle, full gearshift enclosed controls, non-pressurized remote fuel tank, built-in remote control connections and sound-deadening fiberglass hoods in a choice of six colors.

The 16-hp Special Scott is a rugged middleweight motor with power enough to plane a big boat or tow a skier behind a light one. The 16 is strikingly styled, with dent-proof, sound-deadening fiberglass hood in choice of six colors.

The 10-hp Family Scott is an easy-to-handle motor with many "big motor" features. It has full underwater exhaust, air intake silencer, Hush-spring mounts, separate non-pressurized fuel tank, remote control connections, full gear shift, twist-grip throttle, power bailing and smartly designed fiberglass hood.

Fishing Scott is a 7½-hp fishing motor that is easy to carry (60 pounds), trolls slowly and quietly, yet will push a light fishing boat up to 20 miles an hour.

Thrifty Scott, developing 5 hp, weighs only 50 pounds, so it is easily carried or stowed in the car. It has generally the same features as the 7.5-hp Fishing Scott, plus a thrifty price tag. It has an all-metal hood in aquamarine and a white lower unit.

Scotty, 3.6 hp, is a pint-size, yet rugged and reliable little motor that a woman can carry with ease. It is trouble-free and simple to run and youngsters can use it safely. It has an integral gas tank and an all-white finish.

Scott-Atwater is adding to its above announced line a new 3-cylinder 60-hp Flying Scott—light, small, compact and smooth running. Three-cylinder in-line construction makes it possible to develop a full 60 horsepower with a motor weighing only 100 pounds, with a powerhead measuring only 12¾" wide and 14" high.

The 3-cylinder design, with a firing impulse each 120 degrees of crankshaft revolution, is inherently balanced, giving smooth, vibration-free power at all speeds. The new motor gives speeds up to 50 mph on fast hulls.

Available are two new features. One is a remote, single-lever full gear shift and throttle control that enables the operator to maneuver easily and safely around docking areas or other tight spots.

The other new feature is an electro hydraulic tilt mechanism, controlled by a remote lever on the dash, that raises and lowers the motor for beaching, backing out from shore, running over sand bars and other shallow water operations.

A new fuel system, with a separate carburetor for each cylinder, gives the Flying Scott smooth idling and acceleration.

Clean combustion, smooth idling, and fast, smooth pick-up when the throttle is advanced are aided further by new, tilted V-type reed assemblies.

The lower unit is offset slightly to counteract the propeller's torque and make steering easier.

Automotive-type electrical system uses a new type of Delco starter assembly with a gear ratio that starts the motor with half the normal drain on the battery.

The high-charge generator, which will charge the battery even at moderate idling speed, has a voltage regulator. The system also powers an electric fuel pump that eliminates hand priming.

The new motor starts by turning a key in the instrument panel on the dash. The instrument panel carries signal lights which warn when the battery is discharging and when water pressure or temperature in the cooling system is getting too high.

The Flying Scott's propeller is custom fitted by the dealer to the boat and load with which the motor will be used. The motor is available in a choice of six hood colors.

The automatic bailer in the Flying Scott operates independently of the cooling system and pumps up to 300 gallons an hour to keep the boat dry.

WEST BEND OUTBOARDS

New styling and conveniences have been incorporated into a series of eight outboard motors offered by West Bend Aluminum Co., West Bend, Wis.

A new dashboard puts all controls, including a sports-car type gear shift, key starter, cover releases, easy-access carburetor door and choke on one panel. A special "dash" light illuminates all controls for after-dark cruising.

Electric remote controls feature a toggle switch that prevents battery drain when the motor is not in use. The Tele-Flex remote control system provides smooth operation and accurate speed selection with a minimum of maintenance. Installation of remote controls can be made in minutes.

Colors are eye-catching outdoor hues: Arctic White, Sun Yellow, Satin Green, Shell Beige to harmonize with the new color creation, Silver Mocha. Outboard fans can take their choice of four color combinations.

Four 35 hp models are available: (1) with manual starter, (2) with electric starter, (3) with electric starter and standard generator (5 amps. capacity) ($) with electric starter and Super-Alternator generator (up to 20 amps. capacity). Extra capacity to keep the battery charged even under extreme power consumption.

Ship-to-shore phone, radio, bilge pump and navigation lights can be operated with perfect safety.

For the fisherman or for small boats the 6, 8 and 12 hp models are compact, lightweight and easy starting. West Bend's 2 hp air-cooled motor weighs just 28 pounds and is not affected by salt, silt or sandy water.

All West Bend engines are specially protected against salt water corrosion. Other features, new this year, include a Visi-Twist speed selector, key starter switches that can be locked when the motor is not in use, stern clamps that fit the hand and easy-action cover releases.

West Bend's 35-hp Shark has a special dash light to illuminate the controls—a handy late-hour cruising convenience. It is available with Tele-Flex remote controls that are easily installed.

Mercury's Mark 28 permits one hand control of forward-neutral-reverse shifting as well as steering and full control over speed

MERCURY

The most powerful outboard for 1958, the Mercury Mark 78, not only provides more fun and excitement for the experienced driver, but it has proved easier to handle for the beginner.

A six cylinder motor with 66 cubic inches displacement, the Mark 78 provides maximum horsepower per cubic inch and pound of engine weight. But because it has a unique full reversing powerhead (when in reverse the engine actually runs backwards) it utilizes the single-lever throttle and motion control.

So, although a powerful engine, the Kickhaefer corporation of Fond du Lac, Wisconsin, says that surveys have shown that beginners actually learn maneuvering rapidly with this control since the single-lever combines starting, speed and forward-reverse shifting. For dual motor installations, remote control is greatly simplified, since there are only two levers (one for each engine) instead of the usual four.

The built-in slimness of the Mark 78 permits twin engine installations with only 16 inches between propeller centers. The 16-inch spacing requires only a 34-inch transom notch cutout for a dual installation and concentrates the weight of each engine as near as practical to the center of the transom.

The Mark 78 is the lead model in a line that includes two other entirely new offerings: the four cylinder Mark 58 with 44 cubic inches displacement and the two cylinder Mark 28 with 22 cubic inches displacement. The latter effectively combines the pleasures of fast or slow boating. It will troll as low as one mile per hour, yet it has sufficient horsepower for use as a ski-tow boat.

With an automatic transmission it too has one-hand shift and speed control. The motor's powerhead is tilted to drain off the "puddles" of unburned gasoline and condensation which form in any engine under extended low-speed operation.

The slanted leading edge permits the lower unit to slide over floating or submerged objects with minimum impact. It also has weed-shedding characteristics.

The Mark 28 uses the new propeller hub exhaust outlet which buries exhaust gases and noises well aft of the boat in the propeller slipstream. To muffle noise in the cockpit still further, the front of the motor has been sealed and the air intake relocated at the back of the cowl.

The Mark 58 is the newest four cylinder outboard to be developed by the company in its ten years of experience with the four-in-line design. It incorporates the Econo-miser fuel-saving device. Utilized on the Mark 78 and Mark 75 also, the device provides up to 60 per cent more miles per gallon when the engines are throttled back to cruising speeds.

Most powerful of Mercury's '58 outboards is this new Mark 78, which has a 66-cubic-inch six-cylinder in line engine

These new motors bring to nine the number of basic models offered by Mercury, the others being the 6 hp Mark 6, 10 hp Mark 10, 20 hp Mark 25, 30 hp Mark 30, 40 hp Mark 55 and 60 hp Mark 75.

All the models have the in-line design which Mercury, now in its 18th year, has consistently developed in twin, four and six cylinder in-line outboards. The Mark 78 and 75 are electric-starting models. Electric starting is optional in four other models—the 20, 30, 40 hp motors and the new Mark 58. A new generator with 50 per cent greater output for increased electrical accessory demand is standard on all electric models except the Mark 25.

Both the Mark 78 and 58 along with the Mark 75 and 55 are, as in the past, available with long shafts for 20" transoms. At the same time, new, wider (2¾") and longer forged aluminum clamp brackets are standard on the Mark 58 and 78 motors for the new thicker transoms.

WESTERN AUTO SUPPLY

Western Auto has announced the addition of a 5½-hp model to its line of Wizard outboard motors. Known as the Powermatic 5½, the motor develops a full 5½ hp at 4,200 rpm. Its top speed is about 15 mph; trolling speed is one mph.

The 5½ is designed primarily for fishermen and hunters. It is lightweight (55 pounds) and compact enough to be conveniently carried in an automobile trunk.

Despite its small size, the motor has a full gearshift, twist-grip throttle, and a 3½-gallon remote fuel system. Choke button, carburetor adjustment knobs, and rewind starter are grouped on the front panel for the operator's convenience.

The Powermatic is powered by a two-cylinder engine with a piston-displacement of 9.42 cubic inches. The cylinders are arranged for alternate-firing.

Two models made by Gale Products, Galesburg, Ill., are these Buccaneer deluxe 12-hp (above) and 25-hp motors. Both feature an operating lock that prevents motor from tilting when decelerating but will release when motor hits an underwater object.

From the beginning of every action stands faith.

The settlers in a country, the promoters of a company, all those who did realize any great and lasting accomplishment, at first placed themselves under the protection of God, then relied on their own judgment and courage.
Under these conditions only, men's undertakings are to thrive and survive.

What's new for you from the NEW Minneapolis-Moline?

What's new? Just this: Minneapolis-Moline is new from top to bottom . . . with new equipment, new parts service, new time-pay financing. In short, with everything new that will help you make farming more profitable.

Proof? The New Moline started by going direct to farmers like you . . . to find out what you want and need in farm machinery to boost your cash income by cutting farming costs.

Example: The New Moline 5-Star tractor (at your dealer's now) was built from ideas that you gave us. You told us what you wanted in a tractor . . . we built it.

Example: The New Moline parts and service program gives you faster service than you can get from any other manufacturer! We set it up because you told us you must have quicker parts replacements.

So if you need the best in new equipment . . . or the fastest service on replacement parts . . . the man to see is your Minneapolis-Moline dealer.

Remember, "what's new for you from the New Minneapolis-Moline" is important! For every single thing we're doing is designed to help you make more money from farming!

A DOWN-TO-EARTH REPORT TO FARMERS

NEW 5 STAR TRACTOR. Here's new 4-5 plow power that pulls away from the rest under normal loads—yet won't kill with even heaviest loads! Brand new automatic Tel-O-Flo hydraulic system controls working depth, prevents over-loads, balances traction. Ampli-Torc system gives you on-the-go speed changing. As a result you get these important advantages: More acres per gallon! Much easier farming!

NEW PRESIDENT. Russ Duncan met with thousands of farmers and dealers in 34 states recently to find out what they need! Result: Moline sales way up!

NEW MANUFACTURING METHODS. Superior farm equipment comes from superior manufacturing methods. This new custom-built milling machine is part of a line that cost over 2¾ million. It's paying off for you by making good equipment even more precise!

NEW STRAIGHT-THRU P.T.O. BALOR. Hay moves gently straight to bale! No delaying turns means more bales per day! Leaves fold into bale!

NEW STATIONARY POWER UNIT. Tests show this unit pulls its rated HP with amazing efficiency. Not for just a week or a month, but 24 hours a day for years! It's the kind of power efficiency you can count on getting with Moline powered equipment. Check with users! See why no other equipment can give you such power plus fuel savings!

NEW ENGINEERING STRENGTH [illegible] from the New Moline has come from farmer requests. Realizing Moline's engineers believe in [illegible] working with farmers in designing and building machines from the ground up. The new Moline sees it as the only way to give you what you need in power and [illegible]

NEW FACTORY TRAINING [illegible] superior equipment in helping dealers keep it that way. That's why Moline puts service where it's day in, day out. Performance built into Moline machines is kept that way by your factory trained Moline Dealer.

NEW FACTORY PARTS CENTER Parts [illegible] this new [illegible] best in the industry. Six experts. Parts for even your oldest machines are rushed out to your dealer (from this center or nationwide depots) the hour his order comes in!

as it packs. Only takes 2-3 plow tractor to bale 10 tons per hour! All Minneapolis-Moline implements are engineered to do a superior job of work on your farm.

NEW PARTS MGR. 30-year veteran, George Dodson, stresses faster parts service. He's on 24-hour call.

NEW SERVICE POLICY. Moline power [illegible] sales and [illegible] With Both dealers and Moline back it up with pre-delivery and post-delivery warranties!

NEW FULL LINE INDUSTRIAL EQUIPMENT. New front-end loaders, new backhoes matched to tractors like this new crawler, give maximum cost, maximum power equipment needed to fit all type construction jobs!

MINNEAPOLIS MOLINE makes the news in modern farming!

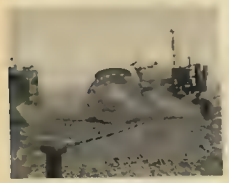
NEW "SHOW DOWN" DEMONSTRATION PLAN. Out on your farm or in competitive field demonstrations, [illegible] will demonstrate the superiority of the New Moline equipment! That's where you'll see for yourself why equipment like the Uni-Picker-Sheller cuts your costs, improves your profits!

Call your Moline dealer. Put his equipment to the roughest, toughest tests you can think of! Prove to yourself right now, that the hotter the competition, the more Moline equipment stands out!

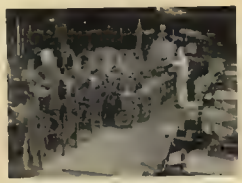


NEW ENDURANCE PROVING GROUND. The New Moline makes sure your tractor is right! Each model must pull another tractor in a 2,000 hour test, week after week without stopping!

NEW FINANCING PLAN. With Moline's new "easy pay" plan, payments are keyed to your income! You can get machines plus matched Moline implements!

NEW DEALER STRENGTH. Bud House, House Implt. Sales Prescott, Wisc. explains why he (like more and more other dealers) recently switched to Moline: "Nobody can touch Moline for really tough machines and speedy parts service. I checked!"

NEW GOVERNMENT CONTRACTS. It's a long way from most farms, but there's big news on the defense front too, from the New Moline. Defense jobs demand dependable power! That's why more and more Moline equipment is reporting for duty at vital defense posts around the world. Nobody stands behind its equipment the way the New Moline does!



NEW TESTING TECHNIQUES. Every Moline engine is now checked with the most up-to-date electronic devices and at all its working speeds! Which means Moline engines will always give you dependable service!

"I figure a company doesn't have to act "big" just because it's a big business. So, just after I joined Moline my people and I started to go out all over the U.S. and Canada talking to almost every Moline dealer we've got.

"This way, we found out the things that would help your dealer help you most! And, we're running our company on that basis. That's why we think you should do what we've done—and are doing daily—talk to your Moline dealer about his new machines and new service.

"Believe us, this man has got the answers for you about more productive farming. The way we see it, the big reason why farmers are buying more Moline equipment than ever these days is this: We're working with Moline dealers, like yours, daily!

"What they tell us you want is what we're producing.

"It will be worth your while to watch these pages in the months ahead for more facts about all the new things we're doing for you at the New Minneapolis-Moline."

Russ Duncan

PRESIDENT, MINNEAPOLIS-MOLINE

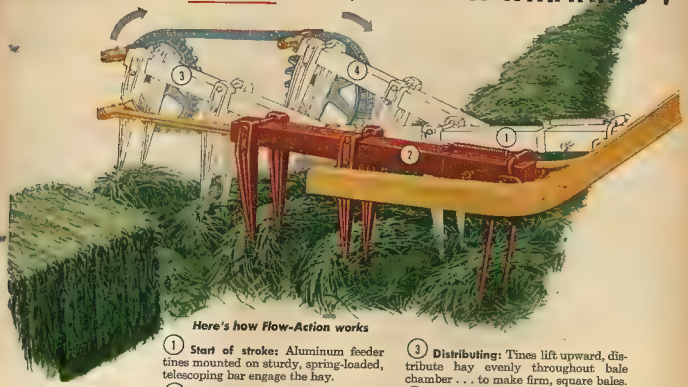
HERE'S THE HEART OF QUALITY HAYMAKING !



Here's how Flow-Action works

(1) Start of stroke: Aluminum feeder tines mounted on sturdy, spring-loaded, telescoping bar engage the hay.

(2) Loading: Tines measure off right amount of hay . . . move it toward chamber. In heavy windrows, bar telescopes, prevents clogging.

(3) Distributing: Tines lift upward, distribute hay evenly throughout bale chamber . . . to make firm, square bales.

(4) Return stroke: Tines lift clear of chamber . . . retract to first position for next loading stroke as plunger makes slice.

NEW HOLLAND'S EXCLUSIVE FLOW-ACTION!

The greatest baling advance in 18 years! Smooth-acting aluminum tines move hay gently from pick-up to bale chamber . . . measure each charge of hay accurately . . . prevent overloading or jamming

It's new! It's different! It's exclusive on the New Holland Hayliner!

Gentle feeder-tine action saves protein-rich leaves . . . helps assure even density . . . avoids clogging. Your hay has no sharp corners to turn. No auger. No wadboard. Just a smooth, easy, flowing action! With New Holland's exclusive Flow-Action, you get the greenest, richest bales you've ever made . . . firm, square quality bales that cure quickly and evenly.

You get economical performance, too. Flow-Action is simple in design . . . has fewer moving parts to wear or need adjustment. It runs easier: requires less power. That means simpler maintenance and cheaper operation.

See amazing Flow-Action in action in the great Hayliner. Stop in at your New Holland dealer's today! New Holland Machine Company Division of Sperry Rand Corporation, New Holland, Pennsylvania.

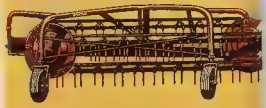
From swath- to windrow-

YOU'LL BE HOURS AND

Mowing Hook up the Ford rear-attached mower to a Ford tractor in minutes—no heavy lifting, no hydraulic lines to couple. Mow at a fast pace—up to 5 acres per hour. With Ford tractor fingertip hydraulic control you raise and lower cutter bar at a touch. Simple adjustments, safety release let you mow clean and fast on any mowing job. You cut square corners, work in tight places with this compact tractor-mower unit. You're safer, too, because the Ford tractor hugs the ground.

Raking Attach the Ford mounted side delivery rake in minutes—then just "pick up and go." The Ford tractor carries it to the field, lets you back into tight spots without jackknifing or cramping. Rake a wide 7'-2" swath. Handle hay gently to save leaves. Lift the rake over obstructions with fingertip hydraulic control. Adjust rake quickly for the raking action and speed you want. This smooth running unit rakes clean and gentle for faster curing, higher quality hay.



Baling There's less leaf loss with either of Ford's top-performing balers—the economical Ford 250 baler or the new "tonnage king," the Ford 350 baler. Both feature cleaner baling with Ford floating pick-up, fast and gentle baling with positive sweep-fork feed. They deliver uniform, well tied bales that stay tied. Slip clutch protection eliminates shear pins, easy adjustments provide the baling action you want. Choose engine or PTO drive in both the twine tie 250 baler and twine or wire tie 350 baler.

DOLLARS AHEAD WITH

FORD HAYING EQUIPMENT

If you are looking for an easier, lower cost way to make hay without changing your haying methods, then you'll want to find out more about Ford haying equipment.

First of all, Ford haying equipment is built to stay on the job. This means you'll spend less time making repairs and adjustments, more time making hay. You'll find, too, that Ford haying equipment helps you get better quality hay by speeding the job and by handling hay gently to save nutritious leaves. And you'll save labor because Ford haying equipment is designed for easy one-man operation.

What about cost? Here's the best part! You'll find that Ford haying equipment is economy-priced—it will return a profit on fewer acres. That's why it is practical equipment for small-acreage owners who have had to depend on custom work in the past.

So whatever your haying equipment needs might be, it will pay you to talk them over with your nearby Ford tractor and implement dealer. Let him help you figure how much you can reduce haying costs with Ford haying equipment. Figure, too, how much work you can save . . . and have better hay in the bargain! Easy terms are available, too.

FORD

HAYING EQUIPMENT HAS DEPENDABILITY BUILT IN

It's Chevrolet's new Fleetside pickup. It combines new style and load space with stamina and economy that are typical of every truck in the Task-Force 58 lineup!

New! The Handsomest, Hardest Working Farm Hand On Four Wheels!

Take a good look at the best looking pickup of all—Chevrolet's new Fleetside! It's capable of fitting into almost any farm chore you've got—from hauling stones to hauling groceries. It's styled for your pride, engineered for work, and built for big loads—its body is a full 6 feet wide, and is available in lengths of 78" and 98". You get the greatest load space of any comparable low-priced pickup! Double-walled lower body construction adds extra strength to the cargo box. The graintight tailgate becomes a sturdy platform for extra-long loads when extended.

Powerful short-stroke V8 engines offer hard-to-beat stamina and performance. And improved 6's get the most out of a gallon of gas—keep costs way down. Sturdy axles and suspensions protect king-sized cargoes, add long life, offer around-the-clock economy. There's hustle, muscle and style in every Chevy. Ask your Chevrolet dealer to show you the right truck for your farm job. . . . Chevrolet Division of General Motors, Detroit 2, Michigan.

WALKING ON WATER

that we now struggled with Terra Nova. Arctic Prowler was just visible off our port side and making better progress than we.

All day it was butt and back, making perhaps a ship's length or half a length at a time. When we could not make progress, we would ring off the engines and wait for the tide or the Labrador current to loosen the ice.

Food was good and plentiful. Tommy, the steward, gave us real ham and eggs some mornings for breakfast. Other times we got that tasteless dish, beloved of Newfoundlanders, called "brewis" which is hard ship's biscuit soaked in water and heated in a bag or pan, with rendered pork scraps thrown over it. Salt cod was a great favorite. Turnips and boiled potatoes every day and on Sunday roast chicken. Pies, cakes and strong, strong tea. Uncle John, the baker, was busy all day making loaves of bread. One end of the long table in the salon was always set with some of his bread, lots of crackers and margarine and jam for a "mug up" day and night. We fared well and, when we got among the seals, we ate flippers (flippers a la Newfoundlander) which tastes like rabbit or partridge and is very choice tasting. Sam, a first-class cook, worked hard because the crew is used to good hearty food and Bowrings certainly realize that a well-fed and hard-worked crew is a happy situation.

Six by-six baulks of timber were dragged out of the hold and rigged on heavy lines over both sides of the ship for getting onto the ice—"side sticks" they were called. The extra drums of diesel oil were pumped into the tanks to replace the used up fuel. The empty drums were filled with water to keep our stern down in order to protect the rudder and wheel from ice and for additional weight which gave us a more powerful punch into the ice. Pinnacle ice was periodically gathered aboard and put in the tank around the exhaust pipe to melt and keep our water tanks full. Pinnacle ice is old ice that started as salt ice but has gradually had the salt extruded, melting into drinkable though slightly brackish water. We stopped many times for this purpose, sending men out with axes and a cargo net to bring some aboard.

Right after five o'clock supper one night we really were stuck "pinched"—so that we could not go backward or forward despite our 1,000 horsepower. Men jumped over the side with long 20 foot poles tipped with iron and tried to push the cakes of ice to one side. But there was no place to push them. Axes made very little impressions on blocks of ice four feet thick. It was an occasion calling for the use of blasting powder which we carried in a red chest on the after deck under lock and key. Black powder is used and used freely because it has an upward force, whereas dynamite has a downward thrust. Bo'sun Fred came along with the two-pound red can of it, cut a foot length of fuse, well insulated with margarine where it entered the hole in the can, and tied the whole business to a long pole. The fuse was lighted and the powder on the pole inserted into a hole cut through the ice while everybody got a respectable distance away. There was a mild concussion, much smoke and that was all. So two cans lashed in tandem were used. That did the trick, the ice split nicely and we were free once again.

Desolate Except for the Bears

We had seen one black crow feeding on our abundant garbage. Against the white ice the crow appeared as large as a cow. One flock of sea gulls flew from the Labrador shore to the open water astern of us. We had passed the large snowshoe like tracks of polar bear, but otherwise saw no signs of life and, I suppose it would seem fantastic to expect any in this desolate white waste.

Arctic Prowler was unable to turn in the direction she wished to go so the crew was put on a log tow rope to pull her bow around. Sealer was stuck again and had men on either side trying to rock her free with lines to the masthead. We had made only about five miles toward the point where the "Main Patch" was said to be in the past five days when suddenly, one late afternoon, probably because of tide and a gentle southwest wind that had blown all day, the ice loosened.

We started the engine and were soon going at the incredible speed of three knots. Everybody's spirit picked up. Sam, the cook, and Uncle John, the baker, came out of the galley for a quick look over the side. The cakes of ice tilted, whirled, sank, turned over or split with the impact of our bow. It was glorious to be moving again. A large crowd gathered on the forecastle head to watch the progress. Everyone felt released.

Soon we began to see isolated adult seals and their young, the White Coats. The adults took to the water but the young, with their black round eyes and black noses, slid and slithered across the pans uttering cries of alarm not unlike the call of a sea gull.

The seals were not thick. It was only the vanguard of the herd; it was late afternoon and the ice irregular and loose and hard to work on. Capt. Laite brought Algerine alongside a large pan and shouted: "Get ready for a tow." The electrified crowd poured down off the foredeck, rushed into the forecastle and came out with bats in hand, tow ropes across their chests, knives and sharpening steels at their belts. There was a lively scramble over the bulwarks and down the side sticks onto the uncertain ice. In no time black figures were running and jumping over the ice in the fast darkening light. Soon the bats were at work, clubbing—one solid blow on the head and the seals lay still. The adult females took to the water. The cries of the young—a high falsetto note—resounded. The cry gave away their position in some crevice or behind a block of ice and they were quickly dispatched.

Men were soon bending over skinning their catch. Patches of white ice became crimson red. The pelts or "skulps" were threaded through the nose hole and men, leaning forward with the bats to steady them, struggled over the irregular ice from pan to pan leaving a red trail to the pan alongside which was the collecting depot. Often they had to throw their bats across a wide gap between floes, lengthen their tow rope and then jump across and pull the skulps after them.

The ship except for the captain, cooks, engineers, steward and the doctor was deserted. Everyone was on the ice—all sixty-odd men—eager for the first kill of the season.

In an hour the area was cleared of seals, mostly White Coats and the few adults who had lingered too long and were also caught. The pile of red skulps, steaming in the cold air, grew high beside the ship. It was getting very dark. The escaped females would curiously bob up in the open leads.

Ice Forces A Sudden Stop

The catch was winched on deck and left to cool during the night. Each skin, with its three inches of fat, weighed 30 to 40 pounds. It was really dark when the last load came aboard but a full orange moon came up over the stern, giving enough light for us to start the engines and press forward toward where we confidently expected the "Main Patch" to be. But the going had suddenly, as is the nature of ice, become bad and we were stopped.

On the cabin table that night was a pail of dry oatmeal with raisins in it, a basin of dry sweet crackers and slabs of store cheese. From this the men made a lunch for the morrow, taking the uncooked oatmeal in small bags to be mixed with water or tea on the ice. If the weather permitted, they would leave at dawn and walk the three miles to the "Main Patch," collect skulps and mark them with red flags for the ship to pick up when and if she could get through.

We had a breakfast of pancakes and molasses at 4:00 A. M. The doctor extracted an aching tooth. When the East became pink three gangs of men assembled on deck under their Master Watch—each man carrying a bat, a flag, a tow rope, skinning knives and a white lunch bag, the latter strapped to his back.

three miles of irregular, uncertain ice. They failed to find the Main Patch. In fact, they did not see a single seal. In the early afternoon, the tired discouraged crowd was back on board. Some remarks, not very complimentary, were passed about the spotter plane.

The radio from Battle Harbor reported many seals off their coast so as soon as the ice loosened, we struck off for the twenty mile run south (we should have gone north) with Arctic Prowler right on our tail for they too had heard the broadcast. The dream of all Seal Skippers to be alone in a patch was shattered. When we arrived, we found nothing but tiny open leads, and rafted ice. The seals were too few to bother with. So it was back again to the north while the ice permitted.

The plane came over again and insisted that the seals were where they had reported them. In the warm sunshine we followed open leads all day to the north and at night came to a stop in an area that looked promising. We heard the bawling of White Coats on all sides.

Profitable Day in Sight

The next day was overcast with a brisk north wind but leads were still open. There was a large lake along whose edges we went searching as soon as it was light enough. There were adult seals and young everywhere—each sizable pan held two or three. This was going to be a good day.

The three gangs of twenty men each were let off at different spots, all well separated and with seal aplenty. We watched from the bridge while they fanned out over the ice, clubbing, skinning and dragging the pelts onto the flag-marked piles. Soon the ice was dotted with red flags and crisscrossed with red trails.

Algerine cruised about transporting men across open water to where the seals seemed more numerous and picking up pelts with the long wire from the after or forward winches. Perhaps twenty or thirty pelts would be thread on straps through a flipper hole and the great mass of fat lumber across the ice irresistibly pulled to the ship's side and up on deck by the powerful electric winches. In the distance, six other ships were at the same work.

This went on all day and, toward dark, groups of tired men gathered around the most accessible flags waiting to be picked up, or they walked wearily in single file around the open water to the ship. The overcast thickened and light snow began to fall. Algerine and Capt. Laite were impatient to get the widely scattered men back on board before dark or snow set in. He blew the whistle to hurry on the laggards, for the safety of his men was his first consideration.

It had been a big day. 3,500 seals killed, of which 1,800 were got on board as the last of the blood-spattered crew climbed over the side. Tomorrow we would pick up the flags, weather permitting. The men wolfed big plates of turnip, potatoes and salt beef with thick slabs of Uncle John's bread and turned in.

Up at 4:00 A. M. we found the leads had closed and we had to back and butt to the flags. The men were out on the ice again but at noon they returned. They had killed all the seals. When an area is cleared of seals the adults too disappear, desolation, dark red carcasses and bloody trails are all that remain.

The afternoon was spent doubling up the flags, a hard job. The foredeck was completely covered with skulps, up to the hatch coamings. As soon as they had lost all animal heat they would be put in the hold in bins, as they form a slippery cargo, between layers of ice. We had our first flippers for supper. They are the property of the men and sell for a dollar apiece in St. Johns (you can't give them away in Halifax). There were still 100 flags to be picked up. This day we got an additional 2,000 skulps and about that number were brought aboard.

Bright sunshine next day, March 21, first day of spring. The men wore dark glasses. Ice glare is terrific and temporary painful blindness often results. We killed only 400 more seals and got 2,000 on board. The weather still held mild with temperatures in the 20's and none of the usual high winds to be expected at this season. We became jammed again and so ran the wire from the forward winch around a large pinnacle and pulled our bow around. Later in the day, we had to use powder to get free. Such is ice navigation.

Occasionally we spotted young seals that had lost their mothers and were starving to death. Their heads are large, their bodies emaciated and they barked a shrill piercing cry. They are known as "screachers." The sealers pass them by as valueless. But such is not the case with the small still-born seals for St. Johns is a ready market for them.

Immobilized in Driving Snow

The northeast wind, compacting ice against the Labrador shore, increased to gale force. Arctic Prowler reported by radio that she had lost her rudder and would attempt to get into open water to the east before rigging a jury rudder. We were completely immobilized and the driving wet snow allowed us to work only the flags nearest the ship.

The wind increased to a full gale, and the next day the men were put to dumping rock ballast from the after hold and putting skulps down the forward hold. According to our direction finder we had drifted south for twenty miles to within nine miles of Belle Isle. Terra Nova reported that she has been driven into the narrow Straits of Belle Isle and was almost lost as her stern was slewed by the ice into a stranded iceberg off Lark Island in the Straits. Arctic Prowler was not getting out of the ice and, like the rest of us, was being driven before the northeast wind down into the Straits. Here the ice is confined and rafted and a ship becomes an impotent toy at the mercy of the heavy ice while being irresistibly forced into the narrow confines between the west shore of Newfoundland on one side and the Quebec and Labrador shore on the other.

The gale continued. Many piles of skulps were lost by all the ships. Bessie Marie, a small ill-equipped vessel, was being subjected to pressure and the crew was alerted one night that they might have to abandon ship. The stout Algerine groans and creaks at times but, in general endures it well.

A stranded iceberg seemed to be approaching us at 3 knots off our port bow but it was we who were moving by it up the Straits to the southwest. We were in rafted ice that towered above our bulwarks. Placentia was three miles astern of us. There was nothing to do but sit around the oilcloth-covered cabin table, drink strong tea and eat Uncle John's bread.

At noon of the fifth day we had drifted 100 miles south and were opposite the nine-mile-wide bottleneck at Cape Ferrolle on the Newfoundland shore.

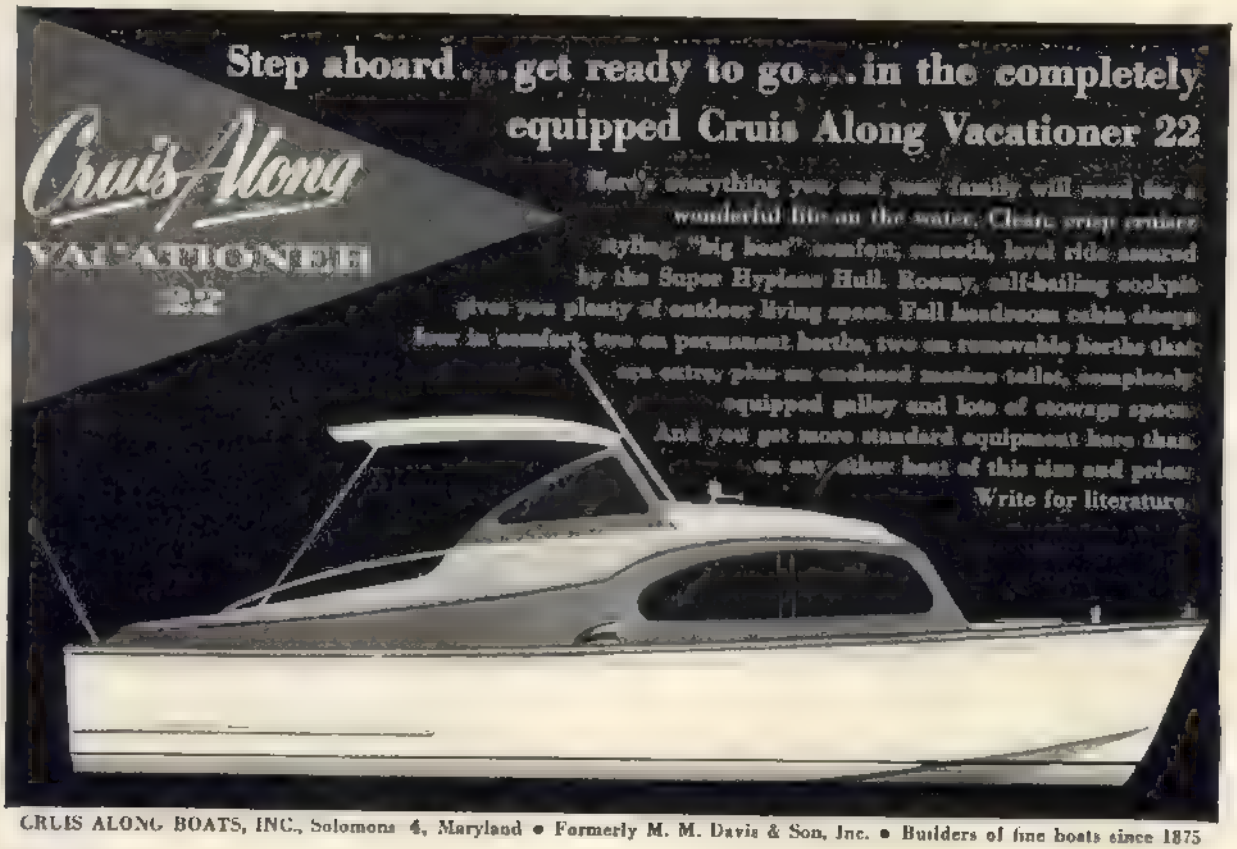
As the wind eased off the men were out again and collected 750 fat prime pelts for the White Coats, too, had been driven with us into the Straits. They were now nearly of a size and age to take to the water and seek their own food and were more difficult to get at. These "baders" like to lie on the thin black skim ice where man dare not go so we put a dory over, which was soon chewed up by ice, but we did collect a few pelts.

Radio Ice-breaker for Help

Prowler was running out of food which caused terrific discontent among their ninety man crew. They radioed for the N. B. McLean, an ice breaker, to come to their rescue. In a few days her smoke was seen on the horizon and Algerine butted and bucked to intercept her and follow her out of the Straits back to the Main Patch, which no one had reached this year.

At noon the McLean reached us. A great big fat round powerful craft that seemed to plow through the ice. She had Terra Nova and Arctic Sealer following her when she left and backed up to break the ice and liberate us while thick black smoke poured from her two stacks.

All three of us tailed behind in her wake while we headed for the lone Norwegian three miles to the north. Tottan of



CRUIS ALONG BOATS, INC., Solomons 4, Maryland • Formerly M. M. Davis & Son, Inc. • Builders of fine boats since 1875

Tonsberg, Norway, was badly stuck, but in an hour she too was free and we headed for Glenwood.

McLean left us and went off at right angles to get her but after going for a quarter of a mile we saw her back out again. The ice was too tough even for an ice-breaker. We four all stayed where we were for the night.

Next day the ice pressure eased and Capt. Laite and the Arctic Sealer decided to go south and around Newfoundland and leave the ice-breaker to her labors which would be protracted. We did not feel that they would be able to get through the Straits back to the sealing area to the northeast of Newfoundland to the "Front" as the Newfoundlanders call the east coast of their island. This proved to be a fortunate move.

Sixty Miles and Back Again

We steamed south in fairly open water on our long course around the island until we met an impenetrable wall of rafted ice. Sixty miles, only to be turned back!

A southwest wind sprang up. It was soon blowing 50 mph and the open water was to rough for Algerine to take it on the beam. There was nothing to do but enter the ice pack again, now being compacted against the Newfoundland shore which we had just left. This would cause great difficulty for the ice-breaker and the rest of the imprisoned sealers.

In the late afternoon we were making slow progress, going north in the edge of the pack with the wild tumultuous seas to port. If we got too deep into the pack we could not push through it and if we got too near the edge we rolled too much, which was bad for our cargo (chafe).

Just after supper we ran into a lot of adult seals lying on the compacted slob (soft snow)—hundreds of them—great black 300-pound cigar-shaped creatures resting on the heaving ice. Algerine cruised around until she found a herd lying on ice within 500 yards of the open angry sea, ice that seemed sufficiently compacted to hold a man although none of the pans were more than a yard square. Algerine placed herself between the seals and their only avenue of escape—the open water.

Gingerly the men went over the side, stepping from pan to pan with a quick step on the slob where necessary. While Algerine wallowed in the heaving ice they attacked the seals, clubbing, dragging the carcasses onto solid pans and skinning while the ice rose and fell in the immense swells.

The seals were trapped. They would raise up on their flippers, throw their heads back and open their mouths in such a threatening manner that many of the few novices were at first intimidated.

It was not long before all men were dragging 100- or 200-pounds pelts to the ship's side. This was really walking on the water. We collected 112 pelts within an hour and lay to in the ice for the night.

A radio report next day said that the west shore of the Straits was free of ice, it all having been jammed against the Newfoundland shore to the detriment of the rest of the sealers whose position had worsened. We sped north with the morning along the Labrador shore and in clear water once again rounded Cape Bauld and were on the Front, ready to resume operations except for one thing. A large steel plate had been ripped loose from our starboard bow and bent back like wet cardboard.

We could hunt no more and had to with great caution, return to St. Johns.

It took a week more for Algerine to reach port. We had 8,000 skulps (we had hoped to have 20,000. The crew had earned only $100 each for six weeks' work. But they were fishermen and realized that luck was of two kinds. They had enjoyed the venture and will, no doubt, go again come another spring.

Ross works about ten hours a day on his project. Up to the point shown in the last illustration, he had worked ten months (the first ten weeks with a partner), and another month (from the date this is written) should see the trim little vessel in the water. The sails are ordered and should be on hand at that time. They are of Egyptian Wamsutta, and at first will consist of four lowers. Knowing Ross' skill as a racing man I can foresee balooners, spinnakers, and mizzen staysail blossoming forth as soon as the bank account recovers from its present shock!

When the little ship is launched, the writer will try to ship in any capacity, even as deputy assistant bilge-cleaner, and a sequel may be written concerning her abilities under sail.

SPERRY EXHIBITS NEWEST RADAR DEVELOPMENTS

First public demonstration of True Tracking and Off-Center radars highlights the exhibit of Sperry Gyroscope Company, div. of Sperry Rand Corporation, Great Neck, N. Y. The new radars, designed and developed at Sperry's marine research laboratories, offer to ship masters more valuable radar information when navigating in fog, at night, or in adverse weather.

Sperry's True Tracking radar provides immediate differentiation between moving vessels and stationary objects, by accenting moving objects on the radar scope. Tiny comet-like tails signal objects-in-motion, and also indicate approaching ship's true speed and course.

Off-Center radar is a marine radar that allows navigators to position their ships electronically anywhere on the radar tube. This advancement allows more pertinent radar information by providing greater seaward scanning area while retaining the high resolution and clear definition of "close-in" ranges.

The Sperry Gyrofin Ship Stabilizer, the stabilizing system that reduces ship roll by 90%, is included in the display.

For smaller craft, the magnetic pilot and several types of small compasses are shown

LIFT WEIGHS BOATS ACCURATELY

With a new 30-ton boat lift installed by Saybrook Marine Service, Old Saybrook, Conn., they can now weigh yachts with an accuracy of about ½ of 1 per cent. This is probably closer than a naval architect can figure it.

Most motorboat owners would wonder why anyone would want his boat weighed, but any ocean racer would know. Weight is an important factor in figuring racing ratings for the Cruising Club of America rule, and many boats may actually weigh more than their racing certificates show. Weighing more gives the boat a break in its rating. Charge for weighing will be one-half cent per pound.

that we now struggled with Terra Nova. Arctic Prowler was just visible off our port side and making better progress than we.

All day it was butt and back, making perhaps a ship's length or half a length at a time. When we could not make progress, we would ring off the engines and wait for the tide or the Labrador current to loosen the ice.

Food was good and plentiful. Tommy, the steward, gave us real ham and eggs some mornings for breakfast. Other times we got that tasteless dish, beloved of Newfoundlanders, called "brewis" which is hard ship's biscuit soaked in water and heated in a bag or pan, with rendered pork scraps thrown over it. Salt cod was a great favorite. Turnips and boiled potatoes every day and on Sunday roast chicken. Pies, cakes and strong, strong tea. Uncle John, the baker, was busy all day making loaves of bread. One end of the long table in the salon was always set with some of his bread, lots of crackers and margarine and jam for a "mug up" day and night. We fared well and, when we got among the seals, we ate flippers (flippers a la Newfoundlander) which tastes like rabbit or partridge and is very choice tasting. Sam, a first-class cook, worked hard because the crew is used to good hearty food and Bowrings certainly realize that a well-fed and hard-worked crew is a happy situation.

Six-by-six baulks of timber were dragged out of the hold and rigged on heavy lines over both sides of the ship for getting onto the ice—"side sticks" they were called. The extra drums of diesel oil were pumped into the tanks to replace the used up fuel. The empty drums were filled with water to keep our stern down in order to protect the rudder and wheel from ice and for additional weight which gave us a more powerful punch into the ice. Pinnacle ice was periodically gathered aboard and put in the tank around the exhaust pipe to melt and keep our water tanks full. Pinnacle ice is old ice that started as salt ice but has gradually had the salt extruded, melting into drinkable though slightly brackish water. We stopped many times for this purpose, sending men out with axes and a cargo net to bring some aboard.

Right after five o'clock supper one night we really were stuck "pinched"—so that we could not go backward or forward despite our 1,000 horsepower. Men jumped over the side with long 20-foot poles tipped with iron and tried to push the cakes of ice to one side. But there was no place to push them. Axes made very little impressions on blocks of ice four feet thick. It was an occasion calling for the use of blasting powder which we carried in a red chest on the after deck under lock and key. Black powder is used and used freely because it has an upward force, whereas dynamite has a downward thrust. Bo'sun Fred came along with the two-pound red can of it, cut a foot length of fuse, well insulated with margarine where it entered the hole in the can, and tied the whole business to a long pole. The fuse was lighted and the powder on the pole inserted into a hole cut through the ice while everybody got a respectable distance away. There was a mild concussion, much smoke and that was all. So two cans lashed in tandem were used. That did the trick, the ice split nicely and we were free once again.

Desolate Except for the Bears

We had seen one black crow feeding on our abundant garbage. Against the white ice the crow appeared as large as a cow. One flock of sea gulls flew from the Labrador shore to the open water astern of us. We had passed the large snowshoe like tracks of polar bear, but otherwise saw no signs of life and, I suppose it would seem fantastic to expect any in this desolate white waste.

Arctic Prowler was unable to turn in the direction she wished to go so the crew was put on a log tow rope to pull her bow around. Sealer was stuck again and had men on either side trying to rock her free with lines to the masthead. We had made only about five miles toward the point where the "Main Patch" was said to be in the past five days when suddenly, one late afternoon, probably because of tide and a gentle southwest wind that had blown all day, the ice loosened.

We started the engine and were soon going at the incredible speed of three knots. Everybody's spirit picked up. Sam, the cook, and Uncle John, the baker, came out of the galley for a quick look over the side. The cakes of ice tilted, whirled, sank, turned over or split with the impact of our bow. It was glorious to be moving again. A large crowd gathered on the forecastle head to watch the progress. Everyone felt released.

Soon we began to see isolated adult seals and their young, the White Coats. The adults took to the water but the young, with their black round eyes and black noses, slid and slithered across the pans uttering cries of alarm—not unlike the call of a sea gull.

The seals were not thick. It was only the vanguard of the herd; it was late afternoon and the ice irregular and loose and hard to work on. Capt. Laite brought Algerine alongside a large pan and shouted: "Get ready for a tow." The electrified crowd poured down off the foredeck, rushed into the forecastle and came out with bats in hand, tow ropes across their chests, knives and sharpening steels at their belts. There was a lively scramble over the bulwarks and down the side sticks onto the uncertain ice. In no time black figures were running and jumping over the ice in the fast darkening light. Soon the bats were at work, clubbing—one solid blow on the head and the seals lay still. The adult females took to the water. The cries of the young—a high falsetto note—resounded. The cry gave away their position in some crevice or behind a block of ice and they were quickly dispatched.

Men were soon bending over skinning their catch. Patches of white ice became crimson red. The pelts or "skulps" were threaded through the nose hole and men, leaning forward with the bats to steady them, struggled over the irregular ice from pan to pan leaving a red trail to the pan alongside which was the collecting depot. Often they had to throw their bats across a wide gap between floes, lengthen their tow rope and then jump across and pull the skulps after them.

The ship except for the captain, cooks, engineers, steward and the doctor was deserted. Everyone was on the ice—all sixty-odd men—eager for the first kill of the season.

peratures in the 20's and none of the usual high winds to be expected at this season. We became jammed again and so ran the wire from the forward winch around a large pinnacle and pulled our bow around. Later in the day, we had to use powder to get free. Such is ice navigation.

Occasionally we spotted young seals that had lost their mothers and were starving to death. Their heads are large, their bodies emaciated and they barked a shrill piercing cry. They are known as "screachers." The sealers pass them by as valueless. But such is not the case with the small still-born seals for St. Johns is a ready market for them.

Immobilized in Driving Snow

The northeast wind, compacting ice against the Labrador shore, increased to gale force. Arctic Prowler reported by radio that she had lost her rudder and would attempt to get into open water to the east before rigging a jury rudder. We were completely immobilized and the driving wet snow allowed us to work only the flags nearest the ship.

The wind increased to a full gale, and the next day the men were put to dumping rock ballast from the after hold and putting skulps down the forward hold. According to our direction finder we had drifted south for twenty miles to within nine miles of Belle Isle. Terra Nova reported that she has been driven into the narrow Straits of Belle Isle and was almost lost as her stern was slewed by the ice into a stranded iceberg off Lark Island in the Straits. Arctic Prowler was not getting out of the ice and, like the rest of us, was being driven before the northeast wind down into the Straits. Here the ice is confined and rafted and a ship becomes an impotent toy at the mercy of the heavy ice while being irresistibly forced into the narrow confines between the west shore of Newfoundland on one side and the Quebec and Labrador shore on the other.

The gale continued. Many piles of skulps were lost by all the ships. Bessie Marie, a small ill-equipped vessel, was being subjected to pressure and the crew was alerted one night that they might have to abandon ship. The stout Algerine groans and creaks at times but, in general endures it well.

A stranded iceberg seemed to be approaching us at 3 knots off our port bow but it was we who were moving by it up the Straits to the southwest. We were in rafted ice that towered above our bulwarks. Placentia was three miles astern of us. There was nothing to do but sit around the oilcloth-covered cabin table, drink strong tea and eat Uncle John's bread.

At noon of the fifth day we had drifted 100 miles south and were opposite the nine-mile-wide bottleneck at Cape Ferrolle on the Newfoundland shore.

As the wind eased off, the men were out again and collected 750 fat prime pelts for the White Coats, too, had been driven with us into the Straits. They were now nearly of a size and age to take to the water and seek their own food and were more difficult to get at. These "baders" like to lie on the thin black skim ice where man dare not go so we put a dory over, which was soon chewed up by ice; but we did collect a few pelts.

Rad o Ice-breaker for Help

Prowler was running out of food which caused terrific discontent among their ninety-man crew. They radioed for the N. B. McLean, an ice-breaker, to come to their rescue. In a few days her smoke was seen on the horizon and Algerine butted and bucked to intercept her and follow her out of the Straits back to the Main Patch, which no one had reached this year.

At noon the McLean reached us. A great big fat round powerful craft that seemed to plow through the ice. She had Terra Nova and Arctic Sealer following her when she left and backed up to break the ice and liberate us while thick black smoke poured from her two stacks.

All three of us tailed behind in her wake while we headed for the lone Norwegian three miles to the north, Tottan of

Tonsberg, Norway, was badly stuck, but in an hour she too was free and we headed for Glenwood

McLean left us and went off at right angles to get her but after going for a quarter of a mile we saw her back out again. The ice was too tough even for an ice-breaker. We four all stayed where we were for the night

Next day the ice pressure eased and Capt. Laite and the Arctic Sealer decided to go south and around Newfoundland and leave the ice-breaker to her labors which would be protracted. We did not feel that they would be able to get through the Straits back to the sealing area to the northeast of Newfoundland to the "Front" as the Newfoundlanders call the east coast of their island. This proved to be a fortunate move.

Sixty Miles and Back Again

We steamed south in fairly open water on our long course around the island until we met an impenetrable wall of rafted ice. Sixty miles, only to be turned back!

A southwest wind sprang up. It was soon blowing 50 mph and the open water was to rough for Algerine to take it on the beam There was nothing to do but enter the ice pack again, now being compacted against the Newfoundland shore which we had just left This would cause great difficulty for the ice-breaker and the rest of the imprisoned sealers

In the late afternoon we were making slow progress, going north in the edge of the pack with the wild tumultuous seas to port. If we got too deep into the pack we could not push through it and if we got too near the edge we rolled too much, which was bad for our cargo (chafe)

Just after supper we ran into a lot of adult seals lying on the compacted slob (soft snow)—hundreds of them great black 300-pound cigar-shaped creatures resting on the heaving ice. Algerine cruised around until she found a herd lying on ice within 500 yards of the open angry sea, ice that seemed sufficiently compacted to hold a man although none of the pans were more than a yard square. Algerine placed herself between the seals and their only avenue of escape—the open water.

Gingerly the men went over the side, stepping from pan to pan with a quick step on the slob where necessary. While Algerine wallowed in the heaving ice they attacked the seals, clubbing, dragging the carcasses onto solid pans and skinning while the ice rose and fell in the immense swells.

The seals were trapped. They would raise up on their flippers, throw their heads back and open their mouths in such a threatening manner that many of the few novices were at first intimidated.

It was not long before all men were dragging 100- or 200-pounds pelts to the ship's side. This was really walking on the water. We collected 112 pelts within an hour and lay to in the ice for the night.

A radio report next day said that the west shore of the Straits was free of ice, it all having been jammed against the Newfoundland shore to the detriment of the rest of the sealers whose position had worsened. We sped north with the morning along the Labrador shore and in clear water once again rounded Cape Bauld and were on the Front, ready to resume operations except for one thing. A large steel plate had been ripped loose from our starboard bow and bent back like wet cardboard

We could hunt no more and had to with great caution, return to St Johns.

It took a week more for Algerine to reach port. We had 8,000 skulps—we had hoped to have 20,000. The crew had earned only $100 each for six weeks' work. But they were fishermen and realized that luck was of two kinds. They had enjoyed the venture and will, no doubt, go again come another spring.

age to raise cheers. With the 110-volt current he can run a television, fathometer, radios, or even a washing machine.

The masts have been completed: the main is 51' hollow Sitka spruce, the mizzen 42'. The masthead sheaves, made from fiber plastic, run on bronze bolts. Rigging is 5/8" galvanized plow steel, with swaged terminals.

Ross works about ten hours a day on his project. Up to the point shown in the last illustration, he had worked ten months (the first ten weeks with a partner), and another month (from the date this is written) should see the trim little vessel in the water. The sails are ordered and should be on hand at that time. They are of Egyptian Wamsutta, and at first will consist of four lowers. Knowing Ross' skill as a racing man, I can foresee balooners, spinnakers, and mizzen staysail blossoming forth as soon as the bank account recovers from its present shock.

When the little ship is launched, the writer will try to ship in any capacity, even as deputy assistant bilge-cleaner, and a sequel may be written concerning her abilities under sail.

SPERRY EXHIBITS NEWEST RADAR DEVELOPMENTS

First public demonstration of True Tracking and Off-Center radars highlights the exhibit of Sperry Gyroscope Company, div. of Sperry Rand Corporation, Great Neck, N. Y. The new radars, designed and developed at Sperry's marine research laboratories, offer to ship masters more valuable radar information when navigating in fog, at night, or in adverse weather.

Sperry's True Tracking radar provides immediate differentiation between moving, vessels and stationary objects, by accenting moving objects on the radar scope. Tiny comet-like tails signal objects-in-motion, and also indicate approaching ship's true speed and course.

Off-Center radar is a marine radar that allows navigators to position their ships electronically anywhere on the radar tube. This advancement allows more pertinent radar information by providing greater seaward scanning area while retaining the high resolution and clear definition of "close-in" ranges.

The Sperry Gyrofin Ship Stabilizer, the stabilizing system that reduces ship roll by 90%, is included in the display.

For smaller craft, the magnetic pilot and several types of small compasses are shown.

LIFT WEIGHS BOATS ACCURATELY

With a new 30-ton boat lift installed by Saybrook Marine Service, Old Saybrook, Conn., they can now weigh yachts with an accuracy of about ½ of 1 per cent. This is probably closer than a naval architect can figure it.

Most motorboat owners would wonder why anyone would want his boat weighed, but any ocean racer would know. Weight is an important factor in figuring racing ratings for the Cruising Club of America rule, and many boats may actually weigh more than their racing certificates show. Weighing more gives the boat a break in its rating. Charge for weighing will be one-half cent per pound.

HOW MANY DOLLS DID YOU SELL?

Because women love to dress dolls, the first exciting dress-a-doll contest sponsored by Doll Bodies, Inc. established new sales records last year in stores from coast to coast.

BIG PROFITS FOR YOU - FROM JANUARY TO OCTOBER

When You Need Sales MOST!

Why wait for Christmas? — Start selling dolls now. This dress-it-yourself trend among women and girls is a powerful stimulant to undressed doll sales. "Lingerie Lou" undressed dolls range in retail from 39¢ to $1.35 in the 7" to 11½" sizes Each doll has a colorful contest circular and entry blank attached to it — to activate impulse sales.

STORES BUILD EXCITING DISPLAYS TO TAP OFF-SEASON DOLL MARKET

Enthusiastic dealers supported the contest with window and counter displays — Result: hundreds of thousands of dolls sold — more than ten thousand contest entries!

Don't be left out in the 3rd contest starting now — order your stock promptly. Start selling immediately.
